Bush Dispute

Strike End Sighted

TORONTO (CP) — A basis for ending a violent bushworkers' strike at Kapuskasing, Ont., was reached between union and company officials at 9:30 p.m., Labor Minister Leslie Rowntree said Thursday night.

Mr. Rowntree said the terms will be submitted to meetings of locals of the Lumber and Sawmill Workers Union (LSC) Saturday for ratification. (See story Page 13.)

They started at 10 p.m. Wednesday when six union and company officials arrived by plane from Timmins and continued almost without stopping until Thursday night.

BRIEF SLEEP

Weary negotiators emerged from the labor department offices at 6:30 a.m. Thursday for breakfast and a brief sleep before talks resumed at 11 a.m.

The strike, which started 31 days ago, involves about 1,100 employees at Spruce Falls Power and Paper Company at Kapuskasing and another 400 at Kimberly-Clark Pulp and Paper Company at Longlac, 180 miles west of Kapuskasing.

VIOLENCE

They are both subsidiaries of Kimberly - Clark Canada Limited.

The strike flared into violence early Monday when three strikers were killed and nine wounded in a clash between armed independent loggers and about 400 strikers.

19 CHARGED

Nineteen loggers have been charged with non-capital murder and hundreds of strikers are being held in a war-time detention camp on charges of rioting.

Palace, Tower Troubled

LONDON (Reuters) — A spot of labor trouble cropped up Thursday at two of Britain's most famous institutions — Buckingham Palace and the Tower of London.

There was no talk of a strike at either place. However, the ancient Tower's 38 Yeoman Warders decided tentatively on a "work-to-rule" campaign to back their bid for a modest pay increase.

The Buckingham Palace case was before a special appeals tribunal hearing a demand for unemployment compensation for a royal groom who was fired for alleged neglect of duty. The hearing listened to union charges of "mismanagement" and "over-regimentation" in the Royal Mews.

Flowers, Snorkel 'Sweetness' Rules House

It was hearts and flowers in the legislature Valentine's Day.
Flowers were placed on the desks of three women members, all of the New Democratic Party, on behalf of Premier Bennett who was in Toronto making a speech.

Provincial Secretary Wesley Black, first speaker in the budget debate, said his speech would be "all hearts and flowers and sweetness."

Then he announced two Valentine presents:
For Liberal leader Ray Perrault he had a compass. "Those who wish to follow Ray now will know where he is going."

For Leo Nimick (NDP—Cranbrook) there was a snorkel. Mr. Black said Mr. Nimick has called for the development of historic Fort Steele in his constituency but the McNaughton plan for Columbia River development—advocated by the NDP—would put the fort under water. (See also Page 2.)

Radio-Inspired Reds Battling in Baghdad

Joy, Relief

Kiss for his wife represents both joy and relief for end of behind-scenes power struggle for Harold Wilson who yesterday became leader of Britain's Labor Party by 144-103 votes over opponent George Brown. He succeeds Hugh Gaitskell who died earlier this year. Profile of man who could be Britain's next prime minister forms BACKGROUND today on Page 5.

BAGHDAD, Iraq (AP)—Urged by secret radio broadcasts to rise against Iraq's new revolutionary regime, Iraqi Communists battled troops in this capital until dawn Thursday.

Despite the new regime's claims it had smashed all resistance, the fighting was the heaviest since anti-Communists overthrew the government of Premier Abdel Karim Kassem Friday and executed him.

LOVE RIFLE

Troops, police and students wearing the green arm bands of the revolution's national guard moved systematically through the city trying to clean up the Communist opposition.

Fighting began when a love rifle cracked out from an upstairs window near the central telephone office. An army tank crew fired back with machine-guns.

SPORADIC

Battling continued sporadically, ending just before dawn Thursday with a heavy outburst near Baghdad's main intersection, Liberation Square.

The situation seemed to be settling into a long-term struggle between Communists and the new regime. Informed sources said about 2,500 persons have been jailed. Some merely worked for the old government but the majority are Communists.

The clandestine radio continued to call for resistance and also urged the Kurdish tribes in northern Iraq to join the Communists in open rebellion. The

PIRATES DEFY AIR-SEA HUNT

CARACAS (AP)—Communists who seized a Venezuelan freighter claimed Thursday night they were in complete command of the ship and defied capture in an air-sea chase in the Caribbean. New violence broke out here.

President Romulo Betancourt called out the armed forces as he prepared for his trip to Washington for talks with President Kennedy.

U.S. warships and aircraft joined in the search for the 1,127-ton Anzoategui in response to an appeal for help from the Betancourt government, which called the men pirates.

Authorities said the ship appeared headed for the eastern Cuban port of Santiago, about 40 miles from the big U.S. naval base at Cuba's Guantanamo Bay.

MESSAGE

The U.S. Coast Guard at San Juan reported interpreting a radio message from the captive ship reading:

"Crew is well. Officers and men under arrest. All are well."

In Washington, informants said U.S. searchers on locating the Anzoategui would report the ship's position immediately to Caracas. They suggested a Venezuelan government request to intercept it would be honored.

MUST HELP

Venezuelan Interior Minister Carlos Andres Perez declared that all nations under international law are obligated to help in capturing the Communists who seized the freighter.

Perez rejected a reported pirate ransom offer to release the captain of the Anzoategui and his crew of 35 in exchange for pardons for jailed Venezuelan terrorists.

CRYPTIC

A cryptic exchange was reported between the Anzoategui and an unidentified radio operator in Venezuela. The Venezuelan operator asked the ship's position and got this reply:

"Cannot give position. Am being threatened."

The implication was that the ship's radio operator was working with a gun at his back.

TERRORISM

Seizure of the ship on the high seas Thursday sparked off terrorism again in Caracas against the anti-Communist Betancourt regime.

Shipping circles in Caracas said the motorship Sure sighted the freighter this morning about where it was reported sighted by a U.S. naval plane.

The Communists told of seizing the Anzoategui Wednesday to dramatize their war against President Romulo Betancourt.

SPOTTED

The Venezuelan Navy reported that U.S. Navy planes spotted the 3,127-ton Anzoategui steaming in the Caribbean about halfway between Venezuela and the Dominican Republic.

The Venezuelan government blamed the ship's seizure on the Armed Forces for National Liberation, an organization with links to Cuba. AFNL leaflets strewn about Caracas newspaper offices said the seizure of the ship was aimed at turning world opinion against Betancourt.

CHIEF AIM

But the chief terrorist aim was to force Betancourt to cancel his visit with President Kennedy in Washington next week. He is due to leave Monday.

AFNL has been pressing a terrorist campaign in Caracas for more than a week and intensified it Thursday to coincide with the news of the daring seizure of the freighter as she steamed toward the U.S. ports of New Orleans and Houston.

GUN BATTLES

Police in Caracas fought scattered gun battles with AFNL bands throughout the city. Terrorists hurled bottled gasoline bombs at police cars and the walls of a pro-Betancourt radio station. They set fire to several cars and buses and burned down a tire factory.

Two messengers for a movie film agency were shot to death in a holdup near the Royal Bank of Canada. The robbers made off with 18,000 bolivars ($3,550). Foreign Minister Marcos Falcon Briceño said the government considered the ship seizure an act of piracy.

Hiking Fad

'If President Said Climb Tall Tree...'

SEATTLE (AP) — A Seattle psychiatrist says he thinks the current fad of hiking 50 miles will come to an abrupt halt as soon as some overweight hiker drops dead of a heart attack.

So much for the end. But how about the start?

"Simple," said the doctor, who asked that his name not be used.

"The President of the United States suggested it and invoked the name of a popular folk hero, Teddy Roosevelt. The combination was unbreakable."

"If the President had said, 'Everyone climb a tall tree,' you wouldn't be able to see the trees for the people."

Returning to the hikers, he said:

"Now the Marines are hiking to prove that they're hairy-chested, as they're always telling everyone. And others, from soldiers and sailors to housewives and college students, are hiking to prove that they're just as rugged as the Marines."

U.S. Senator Intends To Discuss Canada

WASHINGTON (CP) — Senator Wayne Morse, outspoken Oregon Democrat, said Thursday he intends to do a lot of talking about Canadian affairs during the Canadian election campaign. He won't leave the issue to the diplomats.

Advice to leave relations to diplomats is an insult to the free people of both countries, Morse said in a Senate speech suggesting the North Atlantic alliance is in the midst of change and the more public discussion about it the better.

If Europe wants to handle its own defense against communism, then he could see no reason for the U.S. to object, added Morse, a member of the Senate foreign relations committee.

"I am emphatically opposed of U.S. views."

Ancient Adage Flouted

KOLLOCH, Scotland (AP) — Quake, it was claimed Thursday, are being carried to Newcastle.

Newcastle is the English industrial town you are not supposed to carry coal to. It is surrounded by coal mines. But an official of the National Coal Board explained Thursday:

"Because of the recent spell of cold, snow and ice the supply to Newcastle from the neighboring mines was cut off. So coal has had to be sent to that district by ship from pits in Scotland."

Saanich Amends Death Charge

The 16-year-old youth charged following the discovery of the bullet-riddled bodies of a Saanich couple Wednesday afternoon will appear in Saanich juvenile court at 2 p.m. today.

Victoria lawyer Robert Price will represent the boy when he makes his second appearance before Magistrate J. A. Byers.

On his first appearance he was charged with committing a delinquency, "to wit, murder."

AMENDED

The charge was amended Thursday to delete the words "to wit, murder."

The boy has not pleaded to the charge. No application for bail has been made and the youth is lodged in the juvenile section of Saanich jail, separate from adult cells.

AWAY FOR TESTS

A number of articles connected with the double murder of George A. Bickford and his wife, Helen, 3625 Melcroft, were taken to the Vancouver city analyst's office Thursday by Saanich Detective Robin Stewart for blood, ballistics and other tests.

It is understood that the boy has not undergone psychiatric testing.

UP TO MAGISTRATE

Trial of a juvenile in juvenile court on a charge arising out of murder is not without precedent.

Disposition of the case — whether the boy is tried in the juvenile court or remanded to appear in an adult court — is at the discretion of the presiding judge.

Next sitting of Saanich magistrate's court will be held Saturday.

MLA Dies

British Columbia legislature adjourned early Thursday after receiving word that Columbia MLA Richard Orr Newton had died in livermore at the age of 57. (See story on Page 30.)

Plane Carrying Two Missing in Interior

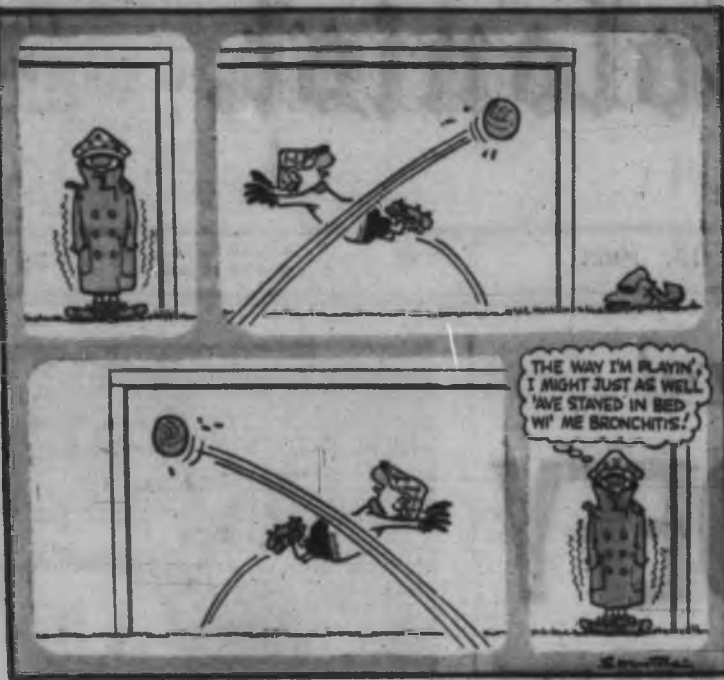

VANCOUVER (CP)—A light plane with two men aboard Thursday was reported missing since Wednesday on a charter flight for the provincial government about 260 miles north of Vancouver.

The RCAF rescue co-ordination centre here said the plane, belonging to Omineca Air Services Ltd. of Burns Lake, B.C., left for Tchesinkut Lake about 11 miles away at noon and was due to return in the evening Wednesday.

The two men aboard, whose names were withheld pending notification of next of kin, were said to be dressed warmly, but carrying only limited survival gear and no radio.

Two aircraft of the Omineca Services have launched a search.

The RCAF said purpose of the flight was to count caribou and moose in the area.

Flu Shots 'Good Precaution' Against Most Virus Ailments

By JOSEPH MOLNER, MD

Dear Dr. Molner: At this time of year people catch colds and Asian and regular flu. All the medical articles I have read seem to say that once you have these illnesses no medication will cure you. Doctors don't have time to explain the difference between them. The Public Health Service says people should have flu shots if they are a certain age, or work with a lot of others, or else are pregnant women.

If shots are good for them why aren't they good for everybody?—O.H.

Flu, Asian flu and colds are all virus diseases. Unhappily we don't have any "wonder drugs" that will stop viruses the way we can stop bacterial diseases. So it's true that no medication will cure either colds or flu.

Aspirin and plenty of rest will make you feel better, and staying home and not getting overtired will help prevent picking up some other germ on top of the virus.

Flu—and there are a number of varieties—tends to make you ache, feel exhausted, feverish. "Asian flu" is merely a particular type. Technically, it is called "A-prime influenza." Each of the varieties of flu tends to cause its own epidemic.

Colds, while also caused by viruses, don't hit as hard as flu. They give us runny or clogged noses, and some types irritate the throat and eyes. There are scores of cold viruses, some more ornery than others.

Even though we can't cure virus diseases, we can prevent a lot of them with vaccines. The present flu vaccines protect against all the major varieties, including the much-publicized Asian. If you haven't had flu shots before, the best advice is to have two of them about a month apart.

If you had shots last year, then a single booster each year is enough to keep you protected. You ask why flu shots aren't good for everybody. They would be. But flu vaccine, in its present form, is comparatively new, and last year, for example, the available supplies ran pretty short. The elderly and pregnant women need the protection; and people in vital jobs—nurses, policemen, key personnel in civic or business affairs—owe it to the community to guard against being incapacitated in case an epidemic starts.

But yes, flu shots are a good precaution for nearly everybody. They may not be tolerated by persons allergic to egg.

Dear Dr. Molner: I got large canker sores on my gums after eating sweets and drinking juice. Taking Vitamin C does not help. Can you suggest anything?—G. J.

(With such a clue, I'd start watching to see just what kinds of sweets or juices are followed by the sores. In short, it may well be a food sensitivity.)

Note to Mrs. W.B.: Phenobarbital is and has been widely used for epilepsy, relaxing the patient and averting seizures. You need not fear either addiction or loss of effect of the drug when used in suitable amounts.

Black's Goal:

Whole New Approach To Social Welfare

By TERRY HAMMOND

Provincial Welfare Minister Wesley Black told the legislature yesterday he is looking forward to a day when instead of a social welfare department there will be a department of human relations and rehabilitation.

He suggested there should be a completely new appraisal of the whole field of social welfare, and possibly a new approach.

He said he will attend a special meeting of western Canadian welfare ministers later on this year.

CHANGED VIEWS

"Perhaps the whole social welfare field needs a new perspective to get away from the feeling some people have that social welfare is a give-away program."

In the past year only 80 persons had been prosecuted for abuses, and many more had been helped. Mr. Black said that his department plans to expand its rehabilitation program, which has been operating on a pilot plan since at Nanaimo, Chilliwack and Prince George.

NEXT CITY

New Westminster would be the next community to benefit from the project.

The Nanaimo project originally involved 48 persons and was 54 per cent successful, with a saving to taxpayers of some $35,000, the minister said.

"Rehabilitation planning must be broadly based on a combined approach utilizing medical, social and vocational skills to prepare these individuals for re-entry into the labor market."

Mr. Black said his department is working in co-operation with the health department to coordinate services already available.

"We can't offer all the services we would like to at this time, but you can rest assured we are doing our best to be foremost in the field of rehabilitation and human relations," he told the House.

He said results of the rehabilitation program so far go only part way toward solving social welfare problems.

B.C. 'Repudiated' By Alberta Plans

Social Credit policy for medicare in B.C. has been "completely repudiated" by legislation planned in Alberta, the legislature was told Thursday.

Mrs. Margaret Hobbs (NDP—Revelstoke) said Premier Manning was not going to wait for federal assistance and was not going to bring in government-administered medicare.

His plan, announced in the Alberta throne speech, was for medicare under the administration of private plans assisted by government funds.

In the field of medicare, as in every other field, the B.C. government "puts private interest first, not people," she added.

Doctors want the Societies and Insurance Act amended to "compel" everyone into the "hidden profit plan" opposition members refer to as United Medical Insurers, Mrs. Hobbs said.

No Further Ahead Than B.C.

Health Minister Eric Martin yesterday indicated he doesn't believe Alberta is any further ahead on medicare than B.C.

He said he was confident that the Alberta throne speech concerning enabling legislation for medicare did not mean Alberta is about to go it alone.

Alberta, he said, is simply setting up the legislation by which it will participate in a federally-subsidized plan when such a plan comes into existence.

Asked if Alberta hadn't beaten B.C. to the draw on medicare, Mr. Martin replied, "In effect, both provinces have advanced to the same extent, in the same direction and at the same time."

"They have put it in writing, we have announced it officially."

Satellite Syncom Sulking in Space?

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI)—U.S. scientists shot a 150-pound communications satellite named "Syncom" into space Thursday and then lost it. Indications were that Syncom was: (1) in the wrong place in space or, (2) in the right place but just wasn't answering any calls. Technicians repeatedly fired signals at the satellite—or at the spot where they thought it should be. They got no response.

Tax Bill Prosperity Key

Kennedy Sees Recession Risk in Defeat

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Kennedy said yesterday that the chances of a recession will be "substantially increased" if Congress fails to approve his proposals to reduce taxes. Using his news conference as a forum to argue the merits of the tax cut-and-reform legislation, the President said those opposed to his program should "Consider what the alternative is." He asked: "What alternative does anyone have for increasing and maintaining economic growth in view of the large deficit of 1956 and in view of two recessions in 1958 and 1960?" "Our plan to prevent a recession this year and the years to come is our tax bill," he said. The President also said that the United States has withdrawn some support troops from Europe in the past few months but added there is no present plan to bring combat forces home. On Cuba, he said the Castro regime has been exporting "men and money" for subversive activities against other Latin American governments.

LEEDS, England—A dead man's kidney has saved the life of a 37-year-old man dying of kidney disease, doctors here said.

Leeds Infirmary governor J. Arnold Tunstall said the kidney was transplanted 66 days ago from a man who had just died to Peter Lucas, a Sheffield, England, milkman. "Mr. Lucas is progressing well."

VANCOUVER—Albert Smith, 48, who police said used a revolver belonging to his policeman brother to hold up a Bank of Nova Scotia branch here Feb. 6, was sentenced to seven years on five robbery charges.

STRASBOURG, France—Arrested for stealing champagne from a department store, Robert Moeckel had a ready explanation. "I had to do it because I can't stand ordinary wine," he told the judge.

China Widens Split

TOKYO (UPI)—Communist China, in an attack clearly aimed at the Soviet Union although it mentioned no names, said Thursday it would "unmask and defeat" its ideological opponents.

The Chinese gave another indication that their split with Moscow shows no signs of healing when they snubbed a Sino-Soviet "friendship" meeting in Peking Wednesday night. The attack and the snub were disclosed by the Communist New China news agency in broadcasts monitored here.

URGES MEETING

New China, quoting the official newspaper People's Daily, called again for a Communist summit meeting "to restore harmony to the world Communist community." But it stressed that China has not softened its opposition to Soviet Premier Khrushchev's more liberal policies.

"It is necessary to unmask and defeat the modern revisionists, wherever and in whatever form they appear," it said. Modern revisionism is the term Peking uses for Khrushchev's peaceful co-existence and the policies of Yugoslav President Tito.

IMPORTANT IN PAST

Peking broadcasts heard here made no mention of any important officials attending Wednesday night's reception on the anniversary of the Sino-Soviet treaty of friendship and mutual assistance. These celebrations have been important diplomatic occasions in the past.

Details Bar Test Ban Says Burns

GENEVA (AP)—Delegates from Canada and Italy declared Thursday that agreement on a nuclear test-ban treaty is in sight if the big powers will only stop wrangling over details.

Canada's Gen. E. L. M. Burns and Italy's Francesco Cavaletti warned the 17-nation disarmament conference that world public opinion is beginning to take a hand in this matter. Failure cannot be contemplated, they declared.

MUST SHOW RESULTS

"In the next few weeks this conference must show that it can achieve results in this all-important question if we are to retain the confidence of the nations which set us our task," Burns said.

Burns and Cavaletti proposed putting the numbers argument to one side for the time being. This was a reference to the dispute about the total of on-site inspections and black boxes which should be provided for in a test-ban pact.

The United States and Britain are insisting on seven to 10 on-site inspections a year on Soviet soil to check on suspicious earth tremors. They also want eight to 10 black boxes located inside Russia's borders.

Pact Threat Issued By Japan

SEATTLE (AP)—A congressional hearing was told Thursday Japan had threatened to quit the three-nation North Pacific Fisheries Treaty unless the eastern Bering Sea was opened to its halibut fleets.

Senator Warren Magnuson, hearing chairman and head of the Senate commerce committee, quickly voiced the opinion the Japanese were bluffing.

"I doubt they would ever carry it out," Senator Magnuson said.

"They have bigger fish to fry with us than a few halibut in the Bering Sea."

Disclosure of the threat was made by Edward Allen of Seattle, veteran member of the International North Pacific Fisheries Commission. He was the first witness at the two-day hearing of the commission's recommendation in November the Japanese be given access to halibut in the eastern Bering Sea. The signatory governments have yet to ratify it.

Government's Fall

U.S. Criticism Wasn't Reason

OTTAWA (CP)—Two cabinet ministers said Thursday a U.S. state department press release criticizing Canada's nuclear policy had little bearing on the defeat of the Conservative government in the Commons last week.

Senator Wallace McCutcheon, newly-appointed trade minister, told members of the fourth annual Canadian-American seminar for management that the press release, issued six days before the government's defeat on a want-of-confidence vote, "had nothing to do" with the government's downfall.

"The government fell by accident," he said during a question-and-answer period. "The two smaller parties in the Commons were put in a position where they could not afford to vote confidence in the government."

"ACCIDENT"

Northern Affairs Minister Dinsdale said "no single factor can be pinpointed" as causing the government's defeat.

"INEVITABLE"

"Because it was a minority government, defeat was inevitable at one time or another. It was a matter of the three (opposition) parties together deciding to defeat the government."

Senator McCutcheon, referring to his appointment as trade minister, said he expects the three opposition parties during the election campaign "to make the most" of a senator taking over a department of government.

"But there is nothing legally wrong with it," he said.

Never Heard Of Request For Flights

WASHINGTON (CP)—The state department said Thursday it has no knowledge of any United States Air Force request for overflight privileges in Canada during the Cuban crisis last fall.

A spokesman said his department had no evidence that the U.S. had asked Canada for 640 overflights of Canadian territory as reported by Marquis Childs, columnist and Washington correspondent for the St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

Childs wrote Wednesday that after four days' delay the Defense Department granted only eight overflights, stirring great anger in the Pentagon.

Fast As It's Made

Rubbing Alcohol Gone Since Reds Got Cuba

MIAMI (UPI)—A third shipload of Cuban refugees sailed for freedom Thursday with a new complaint that "the Russians are drinking up all our rubbing alcohol."

They also reported that Cuban Premier Castro apparently is on the verge of freeing the Americans he is holding prisoner.

The complaint about the Russians' drinking habits was voiced by Jose Cruz, a former suburban Havana restaurant owner who was one of 746 refugees who arrived here aboard the 5,000-ton freighter Santo Cerro.

"You simply cannot get a bottle of rubbing alcohol today in any drugstore. It's mainly because the Russians are swilling it down as fast as we can make it," Cruz said.

Cubans Hold Skindivers

HAVANA (UPI)—The Castro government Thursday announced the arrest of nine Americans suspected of carrying out a study of Cuban coastal artillery installations. They appeared to be a group of treasure-hunting skindivers that left Miami Jan. 20.

Cuban authorities said the group could not supply identifications.

Welcome Action

MR. MACMILLAN'S decision to meet with the prime ministers of Canada, Australia and New Zealand to discuss ways and means by which trade can be expanded within the Commonwealth will be warmly welcomed in Canada.

It has long been contended by Mr. Diefenbaker, Mr. Menzies and Mr. Holyoake that much can be done to strengthen and enlarge the Commonwealth market.

And well this may be, for the Commonwealth today as the successor of the old British Empire of yesterday still spreads itself broadly over almost one-fifth of the earth's surface containing within its bounds a vast wealth of human and natural resources.

It encompasses a conglomerate mixture of the old and the new, the modern and the outdated, the overprivileged and the underprivileged; its vast population of 730,000,000 souls—nearly one quarter of all the peoples who inhabit the world—embraces both consumers and producers, buyers and sellers, the wealthy and the needy, the miners of raw materials and the manufacturers of modern machinery, and the users of both. In short, it has all the apparent attributes of the greatest market place in the world.

True, the development of such a Commonwealth market would necessitate much careful economic planning if it is to be exploited for the benefit of all its partner members. Undoubtedly it would have its disadvantages and problems, but none which could not be overcome if the same spirit of co-operation and understanding which bound together the Commonwealth nations during two world wars were to prevail.

As the London Daily Express puts it: "It is a magnificent prospect."

A Sensible Approach

THE STATEMENT of the provincial government's policy on medical coverage made by Education Minister Leslie Peterson in the legislature will be welcomed by all who are concerned that a "medicare" plan when it comes will be the fairest to all parties, the most effective and the least wasteful that can be devised.

There is apt to be widespread agreement with Mr. Peterson's belief that no matter which party may be in power in Ottawa, comprehensive health insurance is coming sooner or later. This can be seen as a trend of the times. But the nature of the scheme when it becomes a reality on the national scene, or of individual provincial plans, can make a tremendous difference to patients, doctors and taxpayers.

Some temptation must exist for the British Columbia government, for what could be immediate political advantage in stealing its opponents' thunder, to rush into a provincial system. To do so, however, might well prove to be giving the people of the province a far less satisfactory deal than they could otherwise have. The more provinces set up their own systems, too, the less pressure there will be on the federal government to take a hand, and the less chance of achieving desirable uniformity and portability of coverage across the country.

The Bennett government's intention to seek a federal-provincial conference on the subject after the national elections in April bespeaks a desire to ensure that the best plan for general application will be worked out.

Mr. Peterson says the province could not have a medical coverage scheme of its own without increasing taxes, and that the federal government will have to pay half the cost. That will not greatly interest the thinking citizen—it doesn't matter which of his governmental pockets the money comes from, although federal taxation is generally in less painful form than provincial.

But it is important that when British Columbia enters a plan, it is one that tends as little as possible to balkanize the country, and one that is the fruit of careful preparation and the fullest consideration of the interests of all parties.

The Very Salt

A MYSTIC bond of brotherhood, said Carlyle, makes all men one. That is to say, they all belong to the same human family.

Granted there are times when it does not seem so, when men and nations face each other in anger. But even then there is basic remembrance that the human family is one, that the deeds of one branch impinge on another. And eventually they make up.

Approaching in Brotherhood Week, a movement sponsored by the Canadian Council of Christians and Jews. It is not expected to perform a miracle, to end instantly all strife or cure all human ills. It does hope, however, to remind us of the fellow feeling that in so many ways all men share, and to enjoin the kind of tolerance, respect and friendliness on which alone a worthwhile society can exist.

Brotherhood implies charity, lack of prejudice, recognition of another's views, warmth of heart for one's fellow. All men after all experience the same sentiments of hope, fear, compassion, good will; their emotions are similar because men themselves are similar.

They are linked in brotherhood whether they think of it or not.

Like most things that bear pleasant fruit brotherhood can be worked at. It can be pursued and not merely taken for granted. Like charity itself, it best begins, also, close to home, among one's associates. Thereafter it may spread as do ripples in a pool, widening ever to larger circles.

The world probably never before needed brotherhood as its universal theme so much as it does today. And each man can play a part in its spread. Small perhaps but in sum total of great importance.

Brotherhood is not a call that should be neglected, for it could be the very salt of this realm we call the earth.

Boosting B.C.

THE BENNETT government believes in boosting B.C. The latest example, the premier's budget speech handily illustrated in brochure form, no doubt is destined for the far corners of North America and beyond the seas. Not surprisingly the booklet, in party green and white color scheme, will also boost Mr. Bennett's administration. But it will help to dispel the illusion created by political opponents about the financial state of B.C. affairs.

Thinking Aloud

... of shoes, and ships, and scaling wax ...

By TOM TAYLOR

MY heart bleeds for military. A new hazard has erupted to plague her. She blows up when in a high-altitude plane.

Not emotionally, physically. As though girls didn't have enough in this genre to worry them.

The battle of the Buge has taken on a new form, what they call "jet turnaway," which makes the waists of airline stewardesses swell 50 per cent beyond normal.

And that, naturally, is most unusual. Especially since stewardesses are among the more comely sights of air travel.

There is a cure, happily, albeit it comes only after some pain. The girls are advised by a doctor to ease the strictures of their clothing. In more precise words to do what the late golfing Babe Didrikson did when, making a long drive, "I just loosened my girdle and let go."

No word comes that the passengers on high-rise flights are being subjected to equal altitude strains, and that will be comforting to those who favor this mode of progression. Especially a portly chap who doesn't wear a girdle and, therefore, has nothing to loosen.

What is he to do if he finds himself blowing up?

It is also satisfying to learn that cosmic rays play no part in this swelling process, it being merely a matter of the plane pressures unavoidable, I suppose, from fast atmospheric aircraft.

There can be no pleasure without a dash of pain, you know, and if folks are bent on getting places in as speedy an aerial fashion as possible, well—they'll have to put up with it.

Not that I've noticed that air travel disturbs many people. Not that I've much experience in flying, either. Indeed my flights have been quite limited; they go back a very long way but don't add up. I suppose, to much more than half-a-dozen. My first took place in the days of open cockpits and of the kind visualized now by a visit to an aircraft museum, and there was absolutely no danger of "jet turnaway." Just as well, else I'd have floated clean out of the plane.

So as an authority on plane travel I leave much to be desired.

But old ladies, for instance, taking their first journey by plane usually are enraptured. They may have put off flying for years but once they take to the air, there's nothing better. Discomfort they don't seem to notice.

Old folks and children, I have observed on ships, are the ones least affected by mal-de-mer when the going gets rough. The same probably goes for air travel. Youngsters have no interest in being upset, never giving it a thought, and older travellers have an equanimity about life in general that serves them well.

This writer is one of the fortunate for whom travel by car, bus, ship, train or plane brings few internal pangs. This is not a boast, but gratitude for a kind dispensation of providence.

So, you see, I am not qualified to talk about travel hazards. I haven't blown up like a balloon anywhere en route.

The heading on this "jet turnaway" story says it's not funny, meaning of course it's not. It is and it isn't. Neither is it and it is not. I remarked at the beginning, bleeds somewhat for the stewardesses.

These girls deserve a better fate than to be doubled in size as the pilot soars high above the clouds. Planes wouldn't be the same without them and it is to their ministrations that passengers owe their own comfort. It is also rather unfair that they should fall victim to a new ailment come to popular notice.

The number of new ailments that keep cropping up, by the way, is astounding.

Being an ignoramus on the subject I can't advise the girls to do other than the doctor says, loosen their Babe Didriksons. I have a close colleague at the office who is a flyer and no doubt I should have asked his advice.

But if I'd done that maybe he'd have alarmed me with his knowledge and I couldn't have filled this space.

Today In History

The Canadian government announced that more than 20 persons were in custody on suspicion of having offered secret information to a foreign power 17 years ago today—in 1946.

The case arose when Igor Gouzenko, a cipher clerk at the Soviet embassy in Ottawa, turned over to Canadian officials information about espionage.

"Maybe I should try to cut down."

Sobering Estimates of Needs

The Threatening Explosion

By JOHN DAVY from Geneva

THERE are parts of Nigeria where everybody has worms and malaria, and half the children die before they are adult. In the Far East, egg production is about 17 per person annually, compared with 340 eggs per person per year in the United States. One-fifth of the world's population lives on 60 per cent of the world's income; 10 per cent of the world's income is shared by 57 per cent of its population.

These are some of the brutal facts of a world whose two most powerful nations are spending millions of dollars and seeking to place a man on the moon. This is why a sense of shame hangs over the gigantic UN conference on applying science and technology to "less developed" countries. As U Thant, secretary-general of the UN remarked on the opening day, science and technology are on trial. The advanced nations are expending skills and capital on enterprises totally remote from the desperate needs of much of humanity.

In an attempt to bring science down to earth and to challenge scientists with the world's real needs, the UN has assembled here some 1,500 delegates and arranged for the delivery of nearly 2,000 papers on agriculture, transport, technical education, surveying, fishing, industrialization and many other highly practical topics.

The sheer scale of this convulsive effort is impressive and bewildering. Its success will not be easily assessed until some time after it has ended. To the dismay of some scientists present, cold war breezes began early to blow fitfully around the marble corridors of the Palais des Nations. The leader of the Soviet delegation, Academician E. K. Fedorov, complained that the Chinese People's Republic, North Korea, North Vietnam and East Germany had not been invited. Their experience of rapid technical development, he said, would have been invaluable to the conference.

In a session on industrialization techniques, Marxian and free enterprise clashed politely but firmly, and there was a dispute at a press conference about whether Western trawlers were depriving Asians and Africans of their rightful fish. But against the background of the substance of the conference, these exchanges seemed a stereotyped, if compulsory, ritual. And in many spheres there is substantial agreement.

Planning, for instance, is accepted by all, even by the most devoted adherents of free enterprise—especially if they are allowed to call it "management." And one of the most important things this conference may hammer home is the fact that advanced administrative and managerial skills are at least as important to emerging nations as scientists and engineers.

The development of agriculture

The Packsack

OF GREGORY CLARK

DURING the Christmas shopping panic I was infuriated, as I am sure many others were, on encountering this new price sticker the merchants are using, a small, half-inch square tab on which the price is typed, and which is affixed to the merchandise by a glue so powerful that you have to use benzine or some other chemical to remove it.

These defiant little stickers are slapped onto the goods in the most inappropriate places. For example, I bought a flashlight, and the sticker was stuck right in the middle of the glass lens. It took me three fingernails and fifteen minutes to get it off. When I protested to a store keeper about this outrage, he gave an illuminating answer.

"We used to employ," he said, "an easily removed sticker. This enabled shoppers to switch price tags. They would take a twenty-nine cent sticker off one article and switch it onto a three-dollar item. The thing just so happened, finally, that we got so bad, finally, that we had to discover an irremovable sticker. We realize it is an inconvenience to the public, but what else could we do? Our cashiers can't memorize the prices of hundreds of items."

Okay. Fingernails versus modern self-serve merchandizing.

Soviet Exploitation

Half-Hearted

By EDWARD CRANESHAU from London

THE Soviet Press began to formulate an attitude towards the crisis in the Atlantic alliance only a short time ago. So far it is a remarkably non-committal attitude, and it gives no clue as to future action on the part of Mr. Khrushchev.

To all appearances Mr. Khrushchev has not yet committed himself in any way and is content for the time being to observe with detachment the pattern of the figures being opened by later NATO antagonisms.

The Soviet press has nothing to say about this. At the moment the strains in the Western camp are being gaily exploited as a heaven-sent chance to underline everything that has ever been said about the internal contradictions in the capitalist camp and as a sign of the beginning of the end of American hegemony in Europe.

At a moment when the Communist world has lately been revealing some (by no means all) of its own "internal contradictions" to a slightly incredulous world, this demonstration comes in very handy indeed. Even so, it is being staged in a curiously half-hearted way and with no serious attempt to make the details hang together.

In copious foreign language broadcasts, commentaries are being slanted to appeal to presumed national moods. Broadcasts to England, for example, make much of Britain's shame at appearing as a suppliant and have a lot to say about the German menace; to Italy, de Gaulle is exposed as the architect of a Roman Catholic bloc of countries to include West Germany, Italy, and Spain while, at the same time, Britain is represented as the Trojan Horse of American imperialism, in its efforts to subjugate Europe.

As would be expected, Moscow has discovered the panacea for Britain, the alternative to the Common Market, which Mr. Macmillan has so far failed to decry: unlimited trade with the Soviet Union and Eastern and Central Europe.

It is worth recording in this context the Franco-Soviet trade agreement, which was signed on February 1 with unexpected celerity, after hanging fire for a very long time. In the Soviet Union trade follows politics; the dog comes afterwards. Thus the imaginative offer by the Russians to order ships from Britain provided the U.K. agreed to buy Soviet oil (France and Italy both buy a good deal) has a political rather than a strictly mercantile motive. Any British government which says, in effect, that rather than buy oil from Russia it will turn orders away from a depressed area is bound to create a large number of voters. On the other hand, the decision to permit the import of Soviet oil would cause eyebrows to be raised in Washington.

The exploitation of Western divisions is a conventional and almost automatic game in Moscow. For years, for decades, it was very difficult for a Soviet government to get a foot wrong (though Stalin managed to do just this on a number of occasions). Now it is not so difficult. Mr. Khrushchev, whether he likes it or not, is being forced by the Chinese, towards some sort of modus vivendi with the West.

The real power of the West resides in the United States, and will continue to do so, no matter what happens on this side of the Atlantic. So that though the Soviet press may gloat over Western disunity, which is good, traditional Communist practice, the Soviet leadership must be very well aware that the peace of the world, which it desires, is best guaranteed by Moscow and Washington in concert, with no intruders to upset an uneasy balance.

For short-term tactical purposes Mr. Khrushchev may well decide that a firmness with de Gaulle may have its use. But in the long run, anything that tends to introduce chance complications and hazards into the international scene must be discouraged. This is so complete a reversal of good Leninist doctrine that it will take the Russians some time to get used to it. Perhaps the half-hearted way in which they are exploiting a situation, which seems made to order for their traditional disruption line, is a sign that they are trying.

in the world, and there may be twice as many in 60 years' time. This is a time scale in which scientists do not find it easy to think. Biologists and geologists are at home with evolutionary processes taking thousands and millions of years. Physicists deal happily with events lasting a millionth of a second. But human evolution—propelled by science—has acquired a sudden and ominous tempo which, however much it is discussed, is difficult to bring into sharp focus.

One of the most sobering estimates quoted to the conference runs as follows: Some time between the year 2,000 and 2,050, the world's population, on present trends, will reach 8,000 million to 10,000 million. To support this population the present area of agricultural land must be expanded 50 per cent, the agriculture of the whole of Asia must have become as efficient as Japan's is now, and the remainder of the world must be as efficient as Western Europe is today.

If the world can come to its senses, and turn its energies fully towards this enormous task, it is probably just manageable. It is the hope of most people here that this conference will help sanity to prevail.

Franco-Algerian Relations

Hard to Believe

By WILLIAM MILLINER from Paris

FRANCO-ALGERIAN relations, which were close to breaking point last October, now seem to have reached a degree of friendliness hardly believable so soon after a long, hideous war. When General de Gaulle accepted the credentials of the first Algerian ambassador to Paris recently, the talk on both sides of close cooperation was more than diplomatic politeness.

During the winter, M. Mohammed Ben Bella, the Algerian premier, has gone a long way towards restoring security in the country and towards reassuring the 200,000 French settlers who have stayed on. And, while consolidating his own authority, he has deliberately chosen to co-operate as closely as possible with France. Negotiations have gone ahead quietly and effectively in recent months, and have now filled most of the blanks in the Evian peace agreements.

France has promised economic development aid this year totalling $210 million with an additional loan of $50 million. On top of this, France will continue to finance the construction of blocks of low-rent flats already started, and will pay the wages of most of the French schoolteachers in Algeria.

France will spend less in Algeria than last year, but, taking all forms of financial and technical aid into consideration, it is an impressive effort. M. Ben Bella is no doubt convinced that he can expect far more help from France than he could ever hope to obtain from Eastern Europe or from other Arab countries.

No one pretends that the Algerian economic situation has magically improved in a matter of weeks. Unemployment is still widespread, the cost of living has risen steeply, and the civil service is both understaffed and under-trained. But Algeria appears to have got over the period of political chaos and bloodshed that followed independence.

Demobilization is steadily whittling down the nationalist armed forces, swollen by late recruits to a strength of about 120,000 men. The premier's aim is to reduce it to a regular army of about 40,000.

Another source of possible opposition, the Algerian trade unions, has also been brought under control. The unions, which were critical of Ben Bella, failed to remain independent and have now been absorbed by the single state party, the National Liberation Front (FLN).

The party itself is still not fully organized, and not all its leaders are enthusiastic about a policy of intimate co-operation with France. M. Mohammed Khider, general secretary of the FLN Politburo, is emerging as a possible future opponent of Ben Bella over this question. But for the time being, the premier is not openly challenged by a strong rival, and while it would be reckless to forecast complete political stability for Algeria, the structure of the new state is beginning to take shape.

One curious aspect of the present situation is that the richest and once most powerful European land owners have stayed in Algeria and are co-operating quite happily with the new authorities. Among them is former Senator Henri Borghes, perhaps the most famous of the millionaires French "colons" who earned a reputation as a breaker of French governments which tried to establish the authority of Paris over Algeria.

Algeria has not lost its capacity for providing surprising political twists.

BACKGROUND

Profile:

Harold Wilson

Britain's Next Leader?

By EDWIN BOTE from London

One month before his 47th birthday, James Harold Wilson yesterday became leader of the British Labor Party, leader of Her Britannic Majesty's Loyal Opposition with a state salary of £3,000 a year—and probably Britain's future prime minister.

This is not surprising. After Hugh Gaitskell's sudden death on Jan. 18, all who know British politics agreed that Wilson has the best brain of all possible Labor leaders. Quite possibly, his brain is the best in the House of Commons.

It was this brilliance which caused Labor prime minister Clement Attlee to make Wilson president of the board of trade (the ancient British title for minister of commerce) when Wilson was only 31 years old.

Wilson still holds the record of having been the youngest British cabinet minister since William Pitt more than 150 years ago. But Pitt had family connections.

Wilson is also one of the most widely travelled British parliamentarians. He knows the world from the Berlin wall (both sides) to China, where he had a long talk with Chou-en-Lai in Peking.

During the past 16 years he has been a frequent visitor in the United States and Russia. Last year he lectured to the Chicago and Brandeis Universities on political themes. When Gaitskell died, he was on another lecture tour in the United States, which he broke off to return for the leadership contest.

Against Wilson in the fight for the party leadership were his leftist politics, which had made him very prominent in the party's bitter left-right splits.

Despite this, most Labor parliamentarians, who elect the party's leader by secret ballot, were convinced that Wilson's brilliant mind, his gift for pungent speeches, his travels, and above all his expert knowledge of economics made him the best possible party leader.

Wilson opposed Britain's entry into the European Common Market—which is today a political advantage. But he has moved to the right recently, and he will probably move even further to the right.

Three days before he became the party leader, he declared in the House of Commons that a Labor government would be a loyal and active member of NATO, which would be its only possible policy.

Middle-Class Origin

James Harold Wilson was born on March 11, 1916, in the Yorkshire industrial town of Huddersfield. He is of "middle-class" origin. But unlike the fathers of his predecessors Attlee and Gaitskell, who were born into the "professional middle-class," Wilson's father was a self-made industrial chemist who got his good job by his exceptional mathematical mind.

Unlike Attlee and Gaitskell, who went to famous, very expensive private schools, Wilson went to the state elementary school with working-class children.

Many years later, he recalled in a speech that half the boys in his elementary school class were so poor that they wore no shoes to school.

"I joined the Labor Party when I was 19," he says, "but I've had Labor sympathies ever since I was seven."

He won a scholarship to a good high school, and then a scholarship to Oxford University. His work in economics at Oxford was so brilliant that Oxford University's New College made him an economics lecturer when he was only 21.

At the outbreak of war he volunteered for the army, but was told he would be far more useful as a government economist. In 1943—at only 27—he became Economics Director at the vitally important Ministry of Fuel and Power.

Using the complete knowledge of Britain's coal industry which his job gave him, he prepared the plans for its nationalization, and published them in 1945 in a book. All his coal plans were carried out by the Labor government.

When the Labor Party came to power in July, 1945, Wilson entered parliament in the same election. During the following year, he led the British delegation to the Washington conference which created the Food and Agriculture Organization.

In 1947, Prime Minister Attlee angered many older Laborites by making 31-year-old Wilson President of the Board of Trade.

Although Wilson later moved very far to the left, the most important policies he could carry out were classically conservative. He abolished in a government controls, and did for Britain almost what Ludwig Erhard did for Germany.

Resigned with Bevan

But in 1951 when the very leftist health minister, Aneurin Bevan left the Attlee government with tremendous bitterness in protest against some charges being made to users of the new state health service, Wilson also resigned.

Those charges had been demanded by Chancellor of the Exchequer Hugh Gaitskell, who became Attlee's successor as Labor Leader in December 1955.

After the Conservatives had come to power in October 1951, Wilson became economic adviser to a big timber corporation. He has visited Russia frequently since 1951, and is an expert on East-West trade.

Politically he was closely associated with his party's left wing—and after Bevan's death in July 1960 he was generally regarded as the left wing's leader.

In October 1961 Wilson became "Shadow Chancellor of the Exchequer," and recently "Shadow Foreign Secretary" in Gaitskell's "Shadow Cabinet."

Pipe-smoking Wilson lives with his 46-year-old dark-blond wife Mary (the daughter of a Protestant minister) and their two sons in a comfortable one-family house. Their 19-year-old son Robin, who has inherited his grandfather's and father's mathematical mind, studies mathematics at Oxford University; 15-year-old Giles goes to a very good private high school.

Wilson once told me: "I have the ability to sleep at any hour of the day or night—whenever I have time or need for sleep." He plays golf—usually with Tories—and likes to read crime thrillers (his favorite author for relaxation is Dorothy L. Sayers).

Until now, Wilson's telephone number has been in the London telephone book, and either he or his wife answered the telephone when called.

But from now on, he will have very little time for a private life. He must make himself nationally known and popular.

A new parliament will be elected between now and October 1964 and, at present, it seems very likely that Britain's next Prime Minister will be Harold Wilson.

U.S. Funds Cuba-Bound

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The U.S. expressed "regrets" Wednesday that a $1,000,000 UN agricultural aid project for Cuba, stalled since 1961, is going ahead.

The project will provide technicians in animal husbandry, grasslands management and plant pathology. It is an activity of the UN special fund, to which the U.S. pays 60 per cent of the cost.

Resort Hit By Tremor

BELGRADE (Reuters)—A strong earth tremor Thursday brought ceilings crashing down and cracked walls in old houses in Zadar, a holiday resort on Yugoslavia's Adriatic coast.

The tremor lasted about 10 to 12 seconds, the Yugoslav news agency Tanjug reported. The agency did not say whether there were any casualties.

African Students Quit Sofia

VIENNA (UPI)—Most of the 200 African students who clashed with Communist police in Sofia, Bulgaria, Tuesday have demanded exit visas and will leave for the west as soon as possible, informed sources said Thursday.

In Accra, the Ghana Times compared the clash and the arrests of the rioting students to last fall's riots at the University of Mississippi and said Africans were "shocked and dismayed" by Bulgaria's display of racial prejudice. The Ghanaian students in Sofia would leave today.

Wandering Minstrel Sings Way Here

By MIKE GADSBY

Seraffyn Mork was born in Massachusetts but he comes wandering minstrel, and right out of the pages of the Canterbury Tales.

In his floor-length cape, doublet and hose, he has wandered the roads of North America and Europe for the past 12 years, singing wherever he goes.

His six-foot frame cuts a striking figure, and with his lute and his repertoire of songs ranging from the plaintive love song to the rowdy barroom ballad, his home is wherever he is.

Seraffyn graduated with honors in literature from Harvard University, and is also a graduate of the Royal Conservatory in London.

He started on the lonely road of the minstrel when he was 22 years old, and has never looked back.

He says it's a lonely life, but a rewarding one, although he rewards are not financial.

He walked into the Colony Motor Hotel Thursday afternoon, talked briefly to owner Gerald Carter, and was hired on the spot, for a weekend stand in the dining room.

He has performed all over Europe and North America.

and usually plays small towns and villages where he can get the personal touch that has been lost in the mass media entertainment field.

"People are the same all over the world," says Seraffyn, who sings in eight languages. "They all love a song."

"The love of music and singing is most prevalent in Ireland and has been for more than 1,500 years," he said.

He has no preference as to what country he performs in. "I go to Ireland for the people's natural love of song, to France for the food, America for its open-mindedness, Italy for the sun and Denmark for the girls."

Seraffyn spends a few months out of every year at his home in Massachusetts, resting and gardening, then he hits the road again, usually starting with the Caribbean in the spring.

He never plans any engagements ahead of time, but prefers to walk into a town and find what he can.

He rarely spends more than three days in one place, preferring to keep to the open road.

But when he and his lute start a song, his friends are suddenly there.

Return for Merchants Asked If Parking Garages Pay Off

Downtown property owners want to know if the money they are pouring into the deficit operations of civic parking facilities this year will be coming back to them in the future, city council was told yesterday.

Council approved the additional 4.5 mill tax levy on downtown property to cover the estimated $39,160 deficit on this year's operations and cover any contingencies which may arise.

Ald. Millard Mooney wanted to know if the additional levy was to be made "more or less indefinitely." He said downtown property-owners should get some of their money back.

He said this year's excess estimates and the rest when parking garages start to make a profit.

The first parking garage on View Street has been operating at partial capacity since just before Christmas, but officials said the "full 800 car spaces should be available for use sometime today.

to Farmer Construction, which submitted the low bid of $208,053. This building is scheduled for completion by May 31.

TO QUERY LEGALITY

It asked city manager C. C. Wyatt to investigate the legality of returning any profits from the operation to downtown merchants who agreed to underwrite losses incurred in the $1,115,000 program.

There has been a suggestion, in the past few months, that all profits from the garages be put aside to building more facilities in the future.

OPEN TENDERS

Council yesterday also opened tenders for construction of the second 200-car structure on Yates at Langley and gave tentative approval to the award of the contract

Freighter Docks To Plug Up Leak

Singapore-based British cargo-liner Lakemba entered government graving dock at Esquimalt Thursday morning where Victoria Machinery Depot will repair a leak sustained in heavy weather on route from the Orient to British Columbia.

"Three plates were damaged," works manager Thomas Moffett of Victoria Machinery Depot said.

"Repairs should be completed by Monday."

Meanwhile, city police are investigating the theft of an envelope containing $130 from Imperial Optical Co. Ltd., 817 Fort, overnight Thursday.

The theft was reported at 8:35 a.m. Thursday. Entry was gained through a rear window and the manager's office was ransacked.

Which whisky uses the water from a red granite burn?

Water, soft water, is one of the most important influences on the flavour of a whisky. And the water from a red granite stream is the softest and purest. Next time you drink Ballantine's, you'll sense how the stream runs in the taste.

It is differences like this that prove—the more you know about Scotch, the more you like Ballantine's.

Fur Thefts Mount

MONTREAL (CP)—A flourishing trade in stolen furs is causing concern for Canada's $100,000,000 retail fur industry.

and police say they are powerless to stop it.

The concern has become more evident in recent weeks with more than $200,000 worth of furs stolen from Montreal furriers since Jan. 1.

In the 11th and 12th robberies this year, thieves got away Wednesday night with a total of $17,000 worth of coats, jackets and stoles.

Each year, in Montreal alone, thieves make off with $1,000,000 in stolen furs. Police say most of these furs will never be recovered. They will be recut, re-lined, and reassembled and sold to fur buyers across the country.

GET RID OF FURS

In many cases police suspect that someone in the industry helps thieves to get rid of the stolen furs.

The problem has become acute as insurance rates for furs have risen 300 per cent in less than five years. Some major underwriters have tackled on clauses in their contracts, making the client liable for losses up to the first $25,000.

VAST ENTERPRISE

A survey of major fur dealers in Montreal, who asked not to be identified, indicates that the theft and resale of furs is big business in Canada.

"It's vast," one dealer said.

Pickets Quit Oil Plant In Burnaby

VANCOUVER (CP)—Possible shutdown of a Shell Oil Company of Canada refinery in suburban Burnaby was averted Thursday when two "mystery pickets" withdrew at 2 p.m. as mysteriously as they had appeared at 7:30 yesterday morning.

Ninety day-shift workers who had refused to cross the picket line all morning returned to their jobs at 2, relieving night shift workers who had been kept on overtime by the management.

The workers are members of the Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers' Union (OCAU).

Union officials said the mystery pickets—showed up because the company is using a catalyst material shipped here from a Houston, Tex., Shell plant that has been struck since last August.

The mystery pickets carried signs saying: "Hot products are used here, do not cross."

Judge Blocks Union Move

OTTAWA (CP)—Mr. Justice T. G. Norris Wednesday blocked a move by the Seafarers' International Union of Canada to unseat him as federal industrial inquiry commissioner on Great Lakes labor strife.

He dismissed an SIU motion that he disqualify himself on grounds that he acted as an SIU lawyer 10 years ago.

Canada Drops Certain Visas

OTTAWA (CP)—Immigration Minister Bell announced Wednesday non-immigrant visas will no longer be necessary for citizens of Denmark, Finland, Norway and Sweden who visit Canada for three months or less. A five-day exempt from obtaining such visas are citizens of Commonwealth countries, Ireland, France, Iceland, and countries of North, Central and South America.

Saanich Inlet is the BIG word among fishermen this week... either Brentwood end or Goldstream end.

The big grise... sliding up to the three-pound blueback size... jacksprings and a few winter springs are in the Inlet and just about everybody is getting fish.

"Last week was the best I have seen in years," says Art Hall of the Goldstream end.

"There are plenty of springs in Tod Inlet and they are getting blues (grise) from McKenzie Bay to the White Lady," says Harry Gilbert of Brentwood.

But don't let this enthusiasm fool you. Plenty of limit catches are coming into the docks. The regulars are catching day after day. But there are hot days and cold days, and there are hot periods and cold periods each day. One time they are on the surface and half an hour later they are deep. You have to fish for them and you need a little luck or persistence as well... and some anglers are getting skunked.

But, if you want fish, you have more chance of getting them in Saanich Inlet now, than you will likely have at any other time this year.

Art Hall reports fair spring fishing between his boat-house and Goldstream Island and just a little beyond the island.

"There is a school of them playing around in these waters," he says. Herb Hynds got a 24.8-pounder there on a 4 1/2 Tom Mack and 12 ounces with 100 feet of line. His partner, Henry Robbins, got a 13-pounder on a Kamura.

Sam Lane and Bert Wright picked up a 20.8-pounder and a 10-pounder Monday in the same waters on 80 turns, one pound of weight. Krippled Minnow and Roy Smith fished. The trip before they limited on grise.

Fishing had been good before last week's heavy rains. Then the water became murky and fishing fell off. It is clearing more every day, and the fishing is getting better and better.

Wednesday, Stone House and White Lady waters were hot for grise. The grise have been scattered all over Finlayson Arm and up to McKenzie Bay and everything from bucktail flies to Kamura have been getting them.

Just take along your trout tackle and anything that gets trout will likely take the blues, advises Dave Hunketh, who along with his father, Chris, has been making limit catches of grise almost daily.

Spring fishing has been best in the evenings and grise all day, with early mornings best.

In Tod Inlet, Roy Smith took out a 17.1-pounder on Saturday and five smaller ones up to eight pounds this week. On Saturday Bob Redgrave limited on springs up to 14 pounds in Tod Inlet. Wednesday was a hot day.

The odd spring is still coming from Oak Bay waters, but big grise fishing is the highlight now. Bucktail flies and small spoons, all the way from the surface to six ounces, have been getting them.

Off the Chain Islands, The Gap between Discovery and Chatham and Ten-Mile Point have been good areas.

Cowichan Bay is only fair for grise, some grise are showing around Maple Bay and Crofton is still considered fairly good.

Steelheaders should lose no time in getting out after the sea-run rainbows, as time is running out. Conditions should be just about right in every river on the island. Some, like the Sooke, will be a little low and others, like the Cowichan, will be a little high, but all should be fishable.

Cowichan has been high, but higher up in the River-bottom, above the muddy water, and above Scotts Falls anglers have been having good success, but many of the fish have been so colored that the true sportmen have been returning them to the river. Koksilah has been producing. It really is a case of pick your favorite river and go to it. None are reported hot... all have been producing some fish.

Douglas Lake has been reported fair to good and there has been some activity on Quamichan Lake. Now is the time to try for trout in any of the smaller lakes, especially in warm midday periods.

Conservation Officer Jack Lenfesty shot his first cougar last week while hunting the East Sooke area with Jimmy Paton and his cougar hounds, following a complaint a cougar had killed a sheep.

The controversial issue of loggers versus Strathcona Park will be highlighted at Monday's meeting of the Victoria Fish and Game Protective Association at Goldstream clubhouse at 8 p.m. Mountaineers Sid Watts of Duncan and Jack Ware of Ladysmith will show color slides of the park and answer questions. The public is invited.

Ivy's New Contract Ends Montreal Plan

HOUSTON (AP) — Frank (Pep) Ivy won a three-day marathon talk with K. H. (Bud) Adams Jr. Thursday and accepted a two-year, "full authority" contract as head coach and general manager of the American Football League Houston Oilers.

Adams, president and owner, said he finally agreed to accept Ivy's demands that the two jobs be combined and that Ivy have complete authority to hire and fire player and front office personnel.

Ivy had indicated failure to meet his demands would have prompted him to end his one-year stay as Oilers coach and return to the Canadian League as coach and general manager of the Montreal Alouettes. He talked with Montreal officials last weekend.

Other details of the new contract were not revealed except that Ivy received a salary increase.

DOES MANAGER STAY?
There was no immediate clarification of the status of Don Suman, former Rice University basketball coach who served as vice-president and general manager while the Oilers won the AFL championship in 1960 and 1961 and the Eastern Division title in 1962.

Ivy's Oilers got off to a slow 4-3 start last season but won their last seven games to move into a third straight championship game. They lost it to the Dallas Texans in sudden death, 20-17, after 17 minutes and 54 seconds of overtime.

Ivy signed a one-year contract a year ago to become Houston's third coach in three years. He had resigned late in the 1961 season as coach of the National League's St. Louis Cardinals. His Houston contract completed an unofficial swap that sent Wally Lemm to St. Louis as coach of the Cardinals.

Lemm, a 1960 assistant here, took over early in the 1961 season after Adams fired Lou Rymkus. Lemm's Oilers won their second straight title by sweeping their last 10 games.

Rebels Win Title
Metropolitan Rebels won the city bantam girls' basketball championship Wednesday with a 33-30 victory over First United. Marg Maymuth scored 14 points for the winners.

Socred Arms Policy 'Left to Committee'

OTTAWA (CP) — Robert Thompson said Thursday a social credit government would leave the question of acquisition of nuclear arms for Canadian defence to a parliamentary committee.

The Social Credit leader told a press conference that under no circumstances would a government headed by him acquire offensive nuclear weapons — including Polaris-equipped submarines, which he regards as having offensive capabilities.

DEFENSIVE

But he said his party's policy does not rule out defensive nuclear weapons for Canadian forces at home or abroad — provided this is based on an agreement with the United States and approval of what he called a "non-partisan parliamentary defence committee."

Mr. Thompson said his party's defence policy was thrust out by a strategy committee, Dr. Guy Marcoux, Social Credit whip in the last Parliament and MP for Quebec-Montmorency, said all MPs would support it as the unanimous decision of the party.

CAOUSTE AWAY

Deputy leader René Caouette did not attend the strategy meeting or the press conference. He is on a Jamaica holiday.

Only a week ago, at a Montreal press conference, Mr. Caouette was asked for a straight yes-or-no answer to the question of whether a Social Credit government would equip Canadian forces with nuclear weapons. He replied: "NO . . . NO . . ."

"I'll give you a straight answer. It's no. At home, no; abroad, no."

And in the Commons defence debate Jan. 23, Mr. Caouette said: "We of the Social Credit are officially against nuclear arms."

Asked Thursday about Mr. Caouette's Montreal remarks, Mr. Thompson dismissed them as "something he said in Quebec" which he (Mr. Thompson) did not know about beyond press reports.

Mr. Thompson said Social Credit would not campaign on an anti-nuclear platform.

The Social Credit leader said if he were elected prime minister April 8 he would tell the U.S. clearly that Canada wanted to play its full role in defence.

The important thing, he said repeatedly, is to take the nuclear arms issue out of partisan politics.

Nuclear Weapons Lifesavers—Harkness

TORONTO (CP)—Former defence minister Douglas Harkness, in a letter to newspapers, said Thursday nuclear weapons in Canada would not only serve as a deterrent, but would reduce loss of life in the event of an attack.

Mr. Harkness, who resigned from the cabinet 10 days ago on the nuclear arms issue, said scientists have advised that a nuclear defensive weapon would probably destroy not only a bomber, but also its cargo, thousands of feet in the air with little or no danger of fallout at land level.

Ship Joins Ocean Mysteries

NEW YORK (AP) — The American tanker Marine Sulphur Queen, which disappeared Feb. 3 with its crew of 39, has been added to the list of mysteries of the sea.

The U.S. Coast Guard announced Wednesday night it was calling off active search for the vessel, but all units have been told to keep a "sharp lookout" during normal operations.

Bush Strike Brings Bids for Commission

KAPUSKASING, Ont. (CP) — Ten previously had asked for two more requests were made such a commission. Three union members were killed in the Monday burst of gunfire as they descended on a stack of plywood, owned by a farmer settler, and awaiting shipment to the Spruce Falls Company's sawmill until here.

The Kapuskasing town council and the Brotherhood of Pulp, Sulphite and Paper Mill Workers (CLC) called on the Ontario government to inquire into all circumstances of the long dispute between the Spruce Falls Power and Paper Company and the Lumber and Sawmill Workers Union (CLC).

The Lumber and Sawmill Union had been due to surrender Thursday but did not appear.

TCA Landings

Safe Minus Wheels

MONTREAL (CP) — Trans-Canada Air Lines' planes have been involved in five belly landings since the fall of 1959 without injuring a passenger or wrecking an aircraft beyond repair.

A TCA spokesman said Thursday that many so-called "emergency landings" are the result of a defective signal light or gauge.

He referred to the safe landing Thursday of a Viscount at Winnipeg when the pilot noticed his instruments showed the plane's nose wheel had not locked into place. The trouble was a faulty cockpit light.

On Oct. 11, 1959, a Viscount, flying to Toronto from Chicago, made a wheels-up landing at the Glenview, Ill., military base when its two main wheels refused to lower.

Two similar landings occurred at Montreal, while nose-wheel landings were made at Gander, Nfld., July 18, 1961, and at Winnipeg last Jan. 3. In both instances, the pilot elected to use the nose wheel when the two main wheels locked up.

NDP candidate John Windsor and wife.

Author to Carry Banner for NDP

Blind Brentwood author John Windsor was chosen last night as the New Democratic Party's candidate for the Esquimalt-Saanich riding in the federal election to be held April 8.

Liberals Applaud

Don't Air Disputes In Public—Ellis

Discontented Liberals were asked by Victoria Liberal Association president Geoffrey Ellis last night to stop "slamming left and right in public print."

He moved quickly during a special meeting in Liberal Headquarters on Government Street to heal a rift which threatened to divide the party. His plea of "let's have no more of this nonsense" was met with a solid round of applause from some 150 Grits attending the meeting.

HARMFUL

Mr. Ellis said that while it was natural that a hard fight can be expected in the nominating convention, public statements about rifts in the Liberal camp will be harmful provincially and federally.

It was reported earlier that a rift had started months ago when Oak Bay Liberals backed retired naval officer David W. Groos for the Victoria riding nomination, while Victoria Liberals were plumping for city lawyer Foster Isherwood.

Both men attended the meeting and sat near each other, but neither made a statement on the issue.

THOUGHT OF QUITTING
Date of the nominating convention will be set during a meeting of the party's central executive in Liberal Headquarters at 10:30 a.m. Saturday.

Before calling the special meeting to order, Mr. Ellis said he had considered resigning earlier this week because of charges of one ward official that many persons in his ward did not receive notices about last night's meeting.

He said he explained that the mailing lists may have been out of date and that he did not know who received or did not receive their notices, but that the man "doubted my veracity."

The angry president said he was not used to that kind of going to dedicate myself to try and get across the New Democratic Party's message to the people of this community," he told the nominating meeting of some 50 persons in the Douglas Hall.

"If you get behind me I think we have a good chance of taking Esquimalt-Saanich for the NDP."

Mr. Windsor is author of Blind Date, published recently in Sidney. He lost his sight during the Second World War—while taking part in the battle of Melina River in the Italian campaign.

18 CENTS NOT ENOUGH
"I don't think one man and 18 cents is quite enough to win this election," he told the meeting, referring to the riding association's bank balance.

Mr. Windsor summarized the major political parties as: Social Credit: Eighteenth century Tories, 200 years behind the times.

BODE CREST

Liberal: In the years after the war the Liberals rode the crest but as the going got tough, as soon as this country needed leadership, the Liberals failed us utterly.

Progressive Conservatives: I am not one of those who would like to see the Conservative Party disappear. I would like to see it preserved—possibly in a museum, as an historical exhibit.

Moving Here

By JACK FRY

B.C. Liberal Association president William Gilmour has rented a home in Saanich and may buy a fruit farm here, it was learned yesterday.

The former Penitentiary lawyer and apple grower who moved to Vancouver when he gained the Liberal presidency Oct. 14, 1961, moved to Saanich in December, 1962.

He may seek the Liberal nomination in the Esquimalt-Saanich federal riding.

Yesterday, he met Saanich Coun. Robert Ostler, who said he would not back down in his bid for the nomination even in the face of possible strong opposition from the Liberal president.

They met over coffee at Coun. Ostler's home. Mr. Gilmour apparently asked for the meeting.

They discussed "Liberal policies in general" but never quite reached the awkward point in conversation about whether the Liberal president will enter the race, Coun. Ostler said later.

Purpose of Mr. Gilmour's visit may have been to find out whether the Saanich councillor was willing to drop out of the nomination race.

"But I told him I was committed and intend to remain in the race even if it means a fight in the nominating convention," Coun. Ostler said.

The nominating convention will be held in Tillamook School at 8 p.m. Tuesday, and Mr. Gilmour will have until then to decide.

He was en route to a speaking engagement on the mainland yesterday and not available for comment.

Dr. C. H. Hemmings, president of the Liberal Association

Will Not Budge in 'War'

Gasoline Men Standing Ground

Some 200 area gasoline dealers last night indicated they will dig in their heels and stand pat with their prices—despite the price war that has raged through Greater Victoria in the past few days.

Meanwhile thirty-two

Greater Victoria service station operators said they had been approached in the last two days by several oil companies to become commission agents with a guaranteed markup of seven cents a gallon.

They and about 150 other area gasoline dealers strongly indicated they would not budge to "pressure and flattery" but rather remain independent and choose their own markup which now stands at an average 8.6 cents.

There was an atmosphere of fighting spirit at last night's Holyrood House meeting of 180 members of the Victoria zone, Automotive Retailers' Association of B.C. as speaker after speaker urged the members to "stand up for what you know is right."

LOCAL FLAREUP

Meanwhile it appeared that the gasoline "price war" has been contained to a local flareup with four independent dealers—two Pay 'n' Save and two Mohawk stations—competing in price against four to seven Imperial Oil Co. dealers. Exact number could not be learned.

Thursday night the prices for a gallon of regular gasoline stood at par between these two groups—40.8 cents—while all other service stations remained within fractions of the previous price—44.9 cents.

TO PRESENT BRIEF

The association said it would present a brief to the provincial government Monday asking:

● "A base refinery price formula equal to all retailer and non-retailer accounts with no kickbacks, favors, etc.

● "Restoration of free enterprise at retail through out-lawing of consignment price-fixing agreement."

"It's going to be a real fight," said George Hankinson, president of Pacific Chrysler Products Ltd. and a provincial director of the association.

ALL KINDS OF TRICKS

"The oil companies will pull all kinds of dirty tricks and may put the price down to 38 cents," he added.

"We should make clear to the public," said Stanley Hitchman, second vice-president of the association, "that we don't want the prices to stay up."

He was supported by a thundering round of applause from members.

"All we ask for," said local association president Earl Reynolds, "is a fair profit. We should all customers. Our supplier hasn't lowered the price, so how can I?"

CONSIGNMENT PLAN

Mr. Hankinson said at a press conference earlier Thursday the drop in price was a move by Imperial Oil to "get everyone forced into consignment selling" as in Vancouver.

If the Imperial move worked, he said, dealers not on consignment would have to drop their prices to equal consignment prices, and would all finally be forced on consignment.

Thus, with everyone on consignment, and with a set commission price over the whole sale price, all prices would eventually be identical.

HITS APPROACH

"It's a stinking approach by the oil companies to get around the price-fixing provisions of the Combines Act," Mr. Hankinson said.

At last night's meeting Mr. Hankinson outlined the markup pattern across Canada: In Toronto, 5.5 cents a gallon, in Winnipeg six cents, in Calgary 6.5 cents and in Vancouver seven cents.

STANDARDIZATION

National association president Clifford Horwood added that eventually a standardization of prices would creep toward B.C. until all markups were identical.

"But one thing the oil companies are going to realize is they have walked into the wrong town," Mr. Hankinson earlier said.

WAIT AND SEE

In Vancouver, Imperial Oil Co. regional marketing manager D. H. MacAllan said in a telephone interview: "Our attitude is to wait and see."

However, Mr. MacAllan conceded "it's an Imperial price," speaking on the four to seven Greater Victoria operators who slashed prices to 40.8 cents.

It appears the crucial moment in this issue will arrive when and if more service station operators become consignment dealers.

Referendums

In Sooke

Saturday

Sooke school district property owners will vote Saturday on a $16,000 school building referendum and on a library question.

Twelve elementary schools in the district and the Shirley community hall on West Coast Road will be open to voters from 9 a.m. to 7 p.m. Saturday.

The committee did not recommend any additional grant by Jaycees to the association.

FEW FUNDS
Shortage of funds now forced the association to seek return of this right which it relinquished to Jaycees who stage their annual exhibition immediately before the holiday, or to seek compensation for loss of revenue.

The committee did not recommend any additional grant by Jaycees to the association.

THIS YEAR
He recommended that "for this year" the Jaycees be once more given the right to close Blanshard Street in front of Memorial Arena to all traffic so that the carnival could function.

The celebrations group—set up to stage the annual Victoria Day weekend entertainment program—claimed that its 1962 charter gave it the privilege of bringing in the first carnival of the year.

City council yesterday ruled in favor of the Jaycees in the dispute over first carnival rights of the year.

Mayor R. B. Wilson, who headed a special committee set up to investigate claims of both Jaycees and Greater Victoria Celebrations Association, said it was now "too late in this year to make changes."

DEADLINE
Mr. Shepard said he had no authority from his superiors in Montreal to give such an undertaking and council set a two-week deadline for obtaining the necessary reinsurance. Failure to do so, he was told, would mean council would proceed at its next meeting.

The CPR spokesman said he knew of no firm plans for other uses of the hotel property but admitted there were "perhaps 15 or 16 schemes, all in the talking stage."

Council agreed to give consideration to complaints by property owners on Belleville Street that the proposed 100-foot setback running from Government to Montreal would rule out their expansion plans and lower property values.

A fun fair will be held on Feb. 23 from 11 a.m. to 10 p.m. in St. Louis College to raise funds for the new St. Joseph's Church on Burnside Road. Mrs. Rita Desilet, left, and Mrs. Adele Leahy are among those working to make sure the stalls of home cooking, delicatessen, candy, aprons, plants, novelties and white elephant will be well stocked. Lunch from 11 a.m. to 1:30 p.m., tea from 2:30 to 4:30 and a snack bar will open at 2 p.m. There will be games both afternoon and evening.

Couple Married

A pretty wedding took place in St. Martin's-in-the-Fields Church when Alice Winstead, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. Poulson, 833 Wollaston Street, became the bride of John Vernon Parrett, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Parrett, 740 Cowper Street.

Archdeacon J. W. Forth officiated.

The bride was given in marriage by her father.

Miss Barbara Hastings was bridesmaid and Mr. Jim Frost, best man.

Glen and Ken Parrett, brothers of the groom, ushered guests to the pews.

Following the service a reception was held at the bride's home.

Mrs. George Parrett, the groom's grandmother, came from Vancouver for the wedding.

ST. MARY'S

St. Mary's evening branch of the Women's Auxiliary will meet in the church hall, on Tuesday, Feb. 19 at 8 p.m. Slides will be shown of Pakistan women doing the embroidery which is sold across Canada by the Women's Auxiliary to the Anglican Church of Canada.

One pkg. active dry yeast; 1/2 cup warm water (105 to 115 degrees); 2 cups sifted all-purpose flour; 1/4 cup sugar; 1/4 cup butter; 1/2 teaspoon salt; 3 eggs, beaten; Coffee Baba Sauce.

Dissolve yeast in warm water. Add 1/4 cup of the measured flour and 1 tablespoon of the sugar. Beat smooth. Let rise in warm place until double in bulk. Cream butter; add remaining sugar slowly, creaming until light and fluffy. Add salt and eggs. Beat thoroughly. Add remaining flour and yeast mixture. Beat 5 minutes with electric mixer at medium speed or 15 minutes by hand. Pour into one two-quart greased mold. Let rise in warm place until double in bulk. Bake at 350 degrees for 40 to 50 minutes. Invert on plate. Prick thoroughly with a fork. Pour hot sauce slowly over top so that baba will absorb it. Cool. Serve with whipped cream.

Kitchen Gifts For Bride-Elect

Miss Maureen Shields, Vancouver, whose marriage to Mr. William Finlayson of Victoria will take place on Saturday, was honored at a kitchen shower at the Doncaster Drive home of Mrs. G. Finlayson. A corsage of white carnations was presented to the bride-elect and yellow roses to groom-elect's mother, Mrs. N. Finlayson.

A reception followed at Lambourn Inn, Cherry Point, where the bride's table was centred with a wedding cake topped with the ornament used on the bride's parents' wedding cake 28 years ago. Mr. George Coupland of Vancouver, proposed the toast to his niece.

For a honeymoon in the United States the bride changed to a two-piece white wool suit and pale green top coat to which was pinned a yellow rosebud corsage. FO and Mrs. Beauchene will make their home at Comox.

Swimming For Tots At YWCA

As in many physical activities, the time to start is as young as possible. The YWCA is exploring this idea with a swimming class on Monday mornings from 10:30 to 11 a.m., when mothers and their pre-school children, some as young as three years, learn together to be at home in the water. The presence of their mothers gives the small ones confidence and with two instructors, Mrs. Shirley Main and Mrs. Margaret McCleave, and a limited enrollment, the participants get individual attention. This class has proven popular to the mothers, and to the children who find every moment delightful. In fact, each time the class draws to a close, two of the children have cried at having to leave the pool to come back to dry land! Mothers wishing to learn more particulars about this unique opportunity, can call the YWCA at EV 4-7179. A new class will begin on Feb. 18. A new session of the Thursday evening swim class for women at the Crystal Gardens Pool will begin on Feb. 21.

Record Teaches Budgie to Talk

By JILL ABLETT

After almost a year of patiently and amorously whispering my budgie's name morning, noon, and night, in the place where his ear is supposed to be, the little fellow finally came through. "Twistie!" he announced, loud and clear, while hanging upside-down from the mirror, and causing everyone to sit bolt upright in their chair.

Of course, we were delighted. But I had known that there is a much easier and more reliable method of teaching one's budgie to talk. I would not have been so overjoyed with the result of my painstaking efforts.

BUDGIE RECORD
It's a record teaching budgies how to talk — by another budgie. One side of the 23 rpm disc, priced at just $1.50, instructs you in the care of the bird, while the other side contains a variety of catchy phrases straight from the bird's... er... bird's mouth.

The best way to teach your bird to talk, said the man at the store, is to cover his cage while playing the record, keeping out any other outside noises or distractions. Apparently once the bird learns a word, it is virtually impossible for him to forget it. Also it is believed that they respond much better to a woman's voice.

Another gimmick for the birds is a tiny plastic bucket which fits on the bird's cage. On the part which sticks outside the cage is a spout, which when filled with water, causes a handful of natural grass seeds to grow through the top of the bucket. It's quite a novel idea for keeping your bird well supplied with greens, especially if you are living in an apartment with no garden available.

The bucket of greens will last for four months (price is 65c) and refills are 39c.

Apart from a large selection of toys for budgies and canaries, this store also has several amusing items for cats.

SCRATCHING POST

One of them, which is a great blessing to every cat owner who has often ruefully eyed the shredded side of the living room's best chair is a scratching post flavored with catnip. Made of corrugated cardboard, it is priced at $1.93 and will last for a year or more. The intoxicating catnip evidently attracts the cat to scratch his claws on the post — and not the furniture.

There is also a mouse for 25c stuffed with catnip which will guarantee both you and your cat hours of amusement.

Word from the produce people is encouraging this week—the improved weather conditions both in the States and Canada have brought along some good spring fruit and vegetables.

Florida new potatoes have just arrived and are retelling at about 11c a pound. These red potatoes are extremely good for boiling and no matter how long you cook them they keep their shape and don't crumble.

Truckloads of fresh green beans are in from Mexico at 19c a pound, and cucumbers (also from Mexico) are at a more reasonable price than they were—19c each.

A vegetable to use in soups, which is new to me, is the celery root. It looks like a turnip and when cut into cubes it gives a delicious celery flavor to soup without creating the problem of "stringy celery" when ordinary celery sticks are used.

REHURB

The good weather in Victoria lately has hurried up the rhubarb which is now forced in the greenhouses. Expected on the market this weekend, this red rhubarb will sell at about 33c a pound.

If you would like to know where to buy any of these items, call EV 3-4111 for the name of stores where I shopped.

Brownies Win Pins

A presentation night was held recently by the Second Langford Brownie Pack, under Mrs. A. Olson, Brown Owl, and Mrs. M. Dussault, Tawny Owl. Second-year service pins were given to Sandra Gallop and Doreen Dion. Brenda Gordon, Betty Olson, Maxine McTavish, Debbie Dussault, Barbara Gostlin, Jannie McLellan, Arlene Olson and Norren Dion, all received golden bars.

Three new Brownies were enrolled, Pauline Gosselin, Giselle Gly and Gerry McLennan.

The following girls are nearing completion of their golden bar: Marlee McWilliam, Suzanne Valcourt, Sherron Briere, Michelle Kray and Margaret de Groot. Mary Wesley, a Brownie from North Battleford, Sask., has recently joined the Pack.

ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann Landers: That letter from the woman who yelled bloody murder because her husband leaned on the wallpaper and left grease spots was the last straw. Are the females in America having a mass nervous breakdown? It's no wonder the divorce rate is going through the roof.

A wife in Philadelphia can't stand her husband because he squeezes the toothpaste tube in the middle. A woman in California doesn't want to iron bed-sheets. A loon in Kentucky won't let her husband smoke a cigar in the house. Another crazy dame wants to strap a bicycle horn on her husband's head at night so it will wake him up when he snores. Still another nut wants to know what to wear to her husband's funeral—and he isn't even dead yet.

I'm convinced that the real trouble-makers in this world are the wacky women. All a person has to do is read your column for a week and he can get plenty of evidence.—R. D.

Dear R. D.: Men have been complaining about women from the beginning of time and they continue to marry them. If you can think of a better combination I'll buy it.

Dear Ann Landers: When my husband and I are with adults he speaks openly about how much things cost and is not the least reluctant to admit we can't afford certain things. I feel this is perfectly all right as most of our friends are in the same boat and we share similar economic problems.

I believe, however, that my husband should not make our children feel underprivileged by telling them we can't afford to buy them things which their friends have. Isn't it better to try to interest them in substitute toys? Or perhaps get them two inexpensive items in the place of one which is costly?

I keep telling him they will find out soon enough that life is cruel and full of inequities. Youngsters should not carry this burden. Am I right?—FRANCINE.

Dear Francine: You're wrong. Where did you ever get the notion that it's harmful for children to hear the words "No, we can't afford it"? If more people used this phrase instead of hocking their eyeballs to please their kids, they would be better off. Parents who spend time with their children and give them love and attention needn't be concerned about the youngsters feeling "underprivileged." They are the lucky one who grow up straight and strong.

Dear Ann Landers: I'm a high school senior who wants to ask a question that has been bugging me. Why do teens who were going steady write after they break up and

The easy shape of 1963, marked by faultless cut and understated line, is designed by Wm G in Arnel blend light-weight worsted. The wide deep pleats are in place permanently. The low waist, lightly indicated by the tie belt, gives the barely-fitting bodice the pull-over look important this spring. The fabric is washable and requires only light pressing.

Soft and silky Arnel jersey exemplifies the fluid and feminine aspects of this year's fashion. Jo-Mac's pailsey costume is a sleeveless dress with contoured bodice and an easy-fitting jacket to give it all-day, many-season versatility. The beautiful fabric washes and drip-dries without need of pressing.

Gorge Road Hospital Raises $9,000 in Year

Gorge Road Hospital Auxiliary set aside $4,000 to assist in installing a laundry it was disclosed at the annual meeting held recently at the hospital.

A further $4,000, earmarked for hydro therapy, will be re-invested in a 4% per cent de-benture for one year.

Reports also showed that the bank balance of $4,166.24 is in addition to the above mentioned amounts.

Total receipts for the year came to $9,075.40.

A coke machine at the cost of $603 was purchased for use by patients and visitors and another deep freeze was bought for the hospital at a cost of $258.30. The sum of $500 was given toward the purchase on nine new wheel chairs.

The Auxiliary members also looked after all hospital mending, visited patients and supplied needs of Diversional Therapy department. The Mobile Shop continued to make weekly rounds selling small articles to patients.

Fund raising projects included a bridge tea, tag day, garden party, rummage sale and Christmas bazaar. Funds were also swelled by sale of the Rollie Utility knife and Joe's Notebook.

Mrs. E. R. Owen was re-elected president. Other officers are Mrs. W. W. McGregor, vice-president; Mrs. J. Cook, recording secretary; Mrs. J. W. English, corresponding secretary; Mrs. C. Douglas, treasurer; Mrs. R. G. Aitken, past president; Mrs. M. D. Christie, honorary president; Mrs. C. C. Warren, honorary member; Mrs. V. Melbye, Mrs. H. Jackson, directors for one year; Mrs. V. Mawer and Mrs. A. G. Hamilton, directors, two years.

Reports were given by Mrs. E. Ash, Mrs. Douglas, Mrs. English, Mrs. Jackson, Mrs. Mawer, Mrs. Hamilton, Mrs. Douglas, Mrs. G. F. Hilliard, Mrs. G. Callan, Mrs. Bradbeer and Mrs. Owen.

Special guests were Mrs. C. C. Warren, president of the hospital board; Mr. R. Walker, hospital administrator, and Mrs. W. Lowsley, hospital matron.

Mrs. Galloway Heads Provincial Council

"In 1835, there were 6,000 Haida Indians, in 1954 there were 952. These figures represent a tragedy for a people. They attest to a whole history of wrong policy and lack of policies."

This statement was made by Mr. H. Rosenthal yesterday afternoon at the Provincial Council of Women's second and final day of conferences in the Empress Hotel. In his opening remarks, which preceded a discussion session, Mr. Rosenthal said, "we are beginning to realize our responsibilities in this concern and our problem now is what to do with those Indians remaining."

"It is as much our problem as an Indian problem," he stated.

Mr. Rosenthal is a member of the University of British Columbia Extension Department and has been assigned to work with the Provincial Council in conjunction with their work on Indian affairs. Mrs. H. F. Hines of Vancouver is chairman of Indian Affairs Study for the Council.

Council members taking part in the discussion felt that the Indian should be appreciated and accepted for what he is, and not for what the white man wants him to be.

Also it was noted that there are many dissimilar tribes of Indians on the West Coast, each with different problems. Often, the white man thinks of them as a homogenous group. The key problem was found to be one of acceptance and a need for understanding of the psychological problems which arise from non-acceptance.

UBC apparently has special discussion groups for Indian students, where they can talk with faculty members about their problems. Another member spoke of the new parochial school built in North Vancouver, for Indians, as they did not want their youngsters to integrate with the "ill-mannered and lax white children." Mr. John Blaney gave the summary.

Dean Brian Whitlow was guest speaker on Wednesday at the opening session. He set the tone of the conference with an inspirational address. He said humility, willingness to serve and purity of character and heart were essentials for community service.

U.S. to Cut Bases Costs

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States will start bringing its B-47 medium jet bombers home from overseas this year. The shift, expected to be completed by mid 1964, will reduce the amount of money the U.S. spends abroad.

Park Work Bee

Langford recreation commission has planned a large community working bee to whip the dusty Centennial Park into shape as an attractive place for the area.

All the Scouts and Cubs in the area will be put to work digging up 50 trees from the property of William McDowell, on Saturday, Feb. 23.

As many men and boys who can be mustered the next day will plant the trees throughout the park, which is situated between Goldstream Avenue and Dunford Avenue.

Women from the area will serve refreshments in the afternoon to the working parties in the park.

PHONE SECRETARY

Volunteers willing to work on the Sunday project were asked to telephone Tom Hardisty, commission secretary, at GR 8-1850.

Plans for development of the park were discussed last night during a commission meeting in the Langford fire hall. Nine-teen persons representing 12 different groups in the community attended the meeting.

Water will be brought into Centennial Park this year for a water fountain and sprinkling system, said Mrs. Jean Boulter, commission chairman. The water system will be paid for partly from a provincial government grant and from proceeds of a community dance which will be held in the Colwood Community Hall on April 19, from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. Music will be provided by Bert Zala's five-piece orchestra, said Mrs. Boulter.

View Royal Ratepayers Start Drive

View Royal Community and Ratepayers' Association is conducting a membership drive for support to an ambitious program of improvement for the area.

The group is pressing for widening of the Old Island Highway, installation of street lights and additional personnel for the Colwood RCMP detachment which serves the area.

TOO NARROW

"The Old Island Highway is too narrow for the heavy load of traffic it is now carrying, and the provincial government may be asked to widen it," said a spokesman for the association.

There are no street lights in the area, and a start on lighting should be made in the near future, he said.

A small brochure outlining the history of View Royal and the goals of the ratepayers' association is being distributed in the area in an effort to stimulate interest in the association.

Garden Notes

Beans and Beets

By M. V. CHESNUT, FRES

Continuing our notes on the vegetable seed order, I think you'll find that your favorite seed catalogue will list anywhere from eight to 25 different kinds of beans, and selecting a couple of varieties for the home garden out of all this mess isn't easy. They are grouped into tall and dwarf kinds, and again into the green and yellow-podded varieties.

I have given up growing the tall or pole beans, even though their flavor is richer and "beanier" than the dwarfs, simply because they take up too much space in the garden. The vines grow from 6 to 15 feet tall, and finding supports for such enormous great things is altogether too much of a chore. If you have a 10-foot fence in your garden, though, which you wish to cover with beans instead of an ornamental vine, I can recommend Blue Lake, which is the variety favored by most of the big canning and freezing companies.

I think about the finest flavor I ever tasted in beans was a very old variety from the Channel Islands called Blue Coco. The vines are very tall—about 15 feet—and the pods are a dirty purple color, turning a bright green in the cooking—a gourmet's delight. Blue Coco seems to be disease-prone in our climate, though, and has a tendency to come down with virus, mosaic, rust, mildew, and all the other afflictions which beset beans in a bad year.

Among the dwarfs, we grow both a green and a yellow bean, as the flavors are quite different. Our yellow is Round Pod Kidney Wax, an older variety which has never let us down, producing oodles of brittle, crisp, stringless yellow pods starting around 32 days after the seeds are sown. New varieties of good repute—which we haven't gotten around to trying yet—are Topnotch Golden and Kinghorn Wax.

For our green bean, we grow Tendergreen, not a new variety but one which topped a gold medal for excellence when it first came out about 10 years ago. The vines grow to about 2½ feet tall and the pods are thick, meaty, and absolutely stringless. I have been told, too, that this one is a dilly for freezing, although we don't have a home freezer yet and I can't speak from personal experience. Slendergreen is the same bean but with a prettier figure.

In passing, I should remind you that beans are about the last of the vegetables to be sown—around the middle of May most years—for the seeds will rot if you put them in while the soil is still cold and wet and the vines will be stunted if cold spring winds are blowing when the seedlings emerge. You have to keep them picked, too, even if you are so surfeited with beans that you can't look another one in the face. Give them away if you must, but keep them picked, for if the pods are allowed to ripen, the vines will quit bearing.

With beets, we have never found anything more dependable than Detroit Dark Red, which makes a fair-sized root about 70 days after sowing. We don't leave them in the ground that long, though, for I have no ambition to grow the biggest beet in the country—only the best-tasting—and so we start pulling them when they get to be about the size of golf balls. The tops, incidentally, are just as delicious as the roots if you can keep them clean and free from bugs.

There is a new variety from Denmark which gives us an entirely new shape in beets. It is listed under various names in the different catalogues, such as Spanberg Cylinder, Cylindra, Dark Red Cylinder, and Housewives' Choice, and the thing is shaped rather like a six-inch chunk of chubby salami sausage. We found it slightly terrific for slicing and pickling, but it didn't lend itself to pulling in the baby stage like Detroit Dark Red.

The important thing in growing beets is to get the plants "singled" while the seedlings are still very small. What looks like a single beet seed is actually a cluster of seeds, and for every one you sow you'll get four or five plants coming up. These must be thinned out very early in life before the overcrowding can ruin them.

CHARLES McDOWELL Consults an Expert

Politics Wrapped in Jargon

One of the most difficult things in American politics is understanding what the experts in the field are talking about.

The other day, one of the most thoughtful and impressively solemn political writers in Washington wrote the following appraisal of Representative Gerald Ford of Michigan, the new chairman of the Republican Conference in the House. This is what he wrote:

"Neither a conservative nor a liberal, he is pragmatic, leaning slightly to the right once without improving our understanding, we took it up with one of our advisors on contemporary political terminology. He read it, nodded wisely, and consented to answer any questions we might have."

After reading the passage several times and humming it has positioned himself well to the left of old-guard Republicanism but to the right of doctrinaire liberalism, more specifically in the area between dynamic conservatism and modern Republicanism.

Q—Is he what you experts call a new Republican?

A—Not precisely, not with semantic exactitude.

Q—If he is not a new Republican, can he be called a used Republican?

A—Don't be flippant.

Q—Well, is he a Young Turk, whatever that is?

A—I would say that he is a Mature Turk, a man who tempers progressive pragmatism with conservative traditionalism. That is, he is an eclectic fundamentalist.

Q—Does that mean he is a middle-of-the-roader, or a moderate, or are they the same thing?

A—No, a middle-of-the-roader would lack his devotion to party discipline, and the term "moderate" implies a certain passivity, which would not be accurate, either. He is flexible. The operative word is "flexible."

Q—He veers all over the road?

A—No, he is firmly flexible.

Q—Firmly flexible?

A—Yes, pragmatically adaptable but always within the context of progressive Republicanism.

Q—Look, what does this swarm of words have to do with where he really stands in politics?

A—It depends upon your frame of reference, your guideposts in the political spectrum.

Q—You mean to the left or to the right?

A—I can't tell you in a way you could understand. The angle of deflection in these matters is extremely hard to measure semantically. But we experts are pushing toward a break-through.

Soon we hope to assign to every politician an index number, plus or minus, representing the precise angle of his deflection from dead centre. The index number will appear in parentheses whenever the politician's name is used in an article written by any political science professor or resident expert in Washington.

Only then will the public be able to see everything as clearly and simply as we experts do.

SHEILAH GRAHAM's Gossip

Dinah's in Love But Kim (Now 30) Stays Fancy Free

HOLLYWOOD (NANA)—Dinah Shore left her heart behind in New York with a millionaire carpet magnate whose ex-wife is the present Mrs. Beldon Kattelman.

Kim Novak has just reached the 30-year-old milestone. She has never married, "and I'm in no hurry. I like variety," says Kim who obviously is in no hurry.

Now that Brigitte Bardot has her divorce from Jacques Charrier, she is getting ready to wed Sammy Frey who at 24, is two years younger than Brigitte.

Judy Garland could finally make that elusive million dollars with her film, I Could Go On Singing. She has a big percentage. This is the only way to make and keep a fortune in present-day Hollywood.

David Niven would like wife Bjork to give up skiing. She has only just recovered from breaking her leg in three places on the snowy slopes of Switzerland last year. She is now back in Switzerland, skiing.

Regardless of who directs the extra scenes for Cleopatra in Spain, Bosman Darryl Zanuck will be there to oversee production. And I'm sure he will do his best to keep certain ladies away. I wish him luck.

Michael Wilding is listening to the love songs of curvaceous New York singer Catherine Furlong who had been dating Dan Topping Junior.

The girl who goes with Albert Finney, with the intriguing name of Samantha Eggar, will be making an intriguing picture titled, How to Catch a Husband. Samantha has completed her film in which she plays the girl friend of the famed murderer at the turn of the century, Doctor Crippen.

George Hamilton plans to return to England as soon as his Hollywood movies permit, to resume seeing the pretty daughter of the Duchess of Bedford. George is a lot of fun, and I can understand why the young lady wept when she saw him off to America.

Flora Robson who plays the empress in Fifty-five Days at Peking, knows the nicest thief. He managed to get hold of her cheque book, forges her signature for various amounts, and uses some of the money to send her flowers.

James Garner the boy who jumped to fame as Maverick, is spinning round and around—with work. He recently finished, The Thrill of It All with Doris Day. And producer Marty Ramo has agreed to push up the February start of The Wheeler Dealers, so that James can co-star with Miss Day again in Something's Got to Give. After which he will make, 633 Squadron. Even television was not as hectic.

Barlach Show Tremendous

By INA D. D. UTHOFF

It is some time since anything as powerful as the graphics of Ernst Barlach has been shown at the gallery.

Primarily a sculptor, Barlach uses his lines to produce solidity of form. His figures are weighty, they exist in space.

One wonders if Henry Moore, Britain's leading sculptor, may have been influenced by Barlach when he made his drawings of sleeping figures in the London underground during the Second World War. There is the same monumental quality in them.

Born in the neighborhood of Berlin in 1870 Barlach received his early instruction in art from Robert Diez and later went to Paris to further his studies.

It was not until 1906 that he exhibited his work in the leading exhibitions in Berlin and later Dusseldorf and Dresden and made one of the most important contributions to German expressionist art of the 20th century.

What strikes one most is the tremendous power of his lithographs, the force of each composition, the drama and the tragedy of life expressed so vitally.

One has only to study his self portrait in charcoal to find a face that is haunting—the haggard face of one who looks on tragedy, the penetrating eyes of one who understands and feels the sorrows of mankind.

His lithograph Three Gray Women claimed my immediate attention. The drawing of the gnarled hands, the expression of age and poverty in the shapeless coverings or the claw-like toenails of one of the old women, arouse one's pity.

The Divine Steed is Slain By the Mother and The Holy War are different in feeling. In the latter the figure appears to rush forward to the attack while in The Mother Kills Herself, the movement of the falling figure is unforgettable.

The woodcuts depend upon line for their structure. The third dimension is not as evident and design plays a more important part in each composition.

Moses on Mount Sinai and Angels Form a Joyful Circle are more cheerful in subject matter but are no weaker in conception.

This exhibition comes to us through the National Gallery and is part of the collection of Dr. Naomi Jackson Groves of Ottawa, who is an authority on the work of Ernst Barlach.

Anonymous $100 to Assist Foreign Student Proposal

By PAUL WILLIAMSON

Victoria University's students' council president, Alfred Pettersen said last night an anonymous woman has offered $100 to aid the council in its plan to bring foreign students to the university.

The woman said she did not belong to any club or organization interested in international education.

"I think bringing foreign students here is a good idea and I would like to help you get your program underway," she said.

HELP PROMOTE PEACE

"It is one way in which we can help promote peace and understanding between nations."

Mr. Pettersen was very pleased with the offer.

"It is really gratifying to see the enthusiasm everyone has shown," he said.

NEXT FIVE YEARS

The council wants to bring two foreign students here every year for the next five years. It hopes local businessmen will back a $500 scholarship for each student coming.

Mr. Pettersen said a local organization had said it was behind the plan and its object, and felt certain it would be able to offer a scholarship.

NO TROUBLE

"People have said that if we can't find local students who would be interested in housing the foreign students they would be happy to have the students stay with them. Judging by the response from the students on campus we'll have no trouble finding homes for the students."

Mr. Pettersen said this is the first money donation they have received.

"I hope it will start something. We can use all the assistance we can get. Our telephone number is EV 29131, local 11."

China Sales Favored By Majority

TORONTO (CP) — The

Canadian Peace Research Institute says a survey shows two out of three Canadians approve Canadian grain sales to Communist China.

The survey sampled the attitudes of 1,000 Canadians.

The Institute said the survey also shows that almost 45 per cent of those polled said they favored Communist China's admittance to the United Nations with Nationalist China keeping its membership. Thirty-six per cent said Communist China should not be admitted to the UN.

Minors Fined Over Liquor

Two youths pleaded guilty in Saanich magistrate's court Thursday to being minors in possession of liquor and were fined $20 each.

Donald Ivan McKay, 3007 Sixth, Sidney, was found at 12:30 a.m. Feb. 3 on Beakins Road with five bottles of beer in his car.

John Edward Fyfe, 3460 Quadra, admitted being in possession of liquor on Douglas Street Feb. 1.

Norman Douglas Taylor, 18, of 2041 Meadow, pleaded guilty to attempted theft under $50. Court was told the accused, in company with three juveniles, tried to steal a battery from a car. He was remanded for one week for probation report and sentence.

A plea of guilty was entered on a charge of drinking in a public place brought against James Sivertson, 7215 West Saanich. The accused was found in a drive-in with open bottles of beer, and was fined $50. Sivertson's father appeared for him.

Allan Robson, 963 Amphion, was erroneously reported to have been given a suspended sentence on a charge of false pretences involving goods of a value less than $50. The accused was actually Arland Robson of the same address.

Unemployment Total Up from December

OTTAWA (CP) — A New Year's shrinkage in job openings pushed Canadian unemployment to 541,000 at mid-January — 127,000 higher than in December and about the same as a year earlier.

A joint report Wednesday by the bureau of statistics and labor department showed a January jobless rate of 8.3 per cent; one out of every 12 persons in the labor force was unemployed.

The unemployment rate compared with 6.3 per cent in December and 8.5 per cent in January last year, when there were 545,000 unemployed. Two years ago unemployment was at a post-war high of 10.3 per cent for the month and the jobless rate was 10.8 per cent.

The report said the unemployment increase of 127,000 from December was "about a normal change for the time of year."

FALL SHARPLY

The number of persons with jobs fell sharply to 5,556,000, down 204,000 in the month. This was attributed to a seasonal slackening in retail trade and outdoor work. The impact of this on the unemployed total was lessened by a drop-out of 77,000 persons from the labor market.

Employment in January was 5,200 higher than the 5,064,000 total a year earlier. During the 12 months the labor force has risen by 89,000 to 6,497,000.

The report, based on a survey of 25,000 Canadian households in the week ended Jan. 13, showed that the unemployment rise was not felt equally either among regions or sexes.

Jobless totals by regions, with December figures in brackets: Atlantic 88,000 (79,000); Quebec 192,000 (154,000); Ontario 138,000 (120,000); Prairies 73,000 (51,000); Pacific 58,000 (46,000).

Vaccine Plan To Continue

B.C.'s plans to immunize 1,000,000 more residents with rabies oral vaccine will continue, Health Minister Martin said Thursday.

When the program was suspended in September, 374,000 persons, mostly in the B.C. Interior, had received the vaccine. Nothing has happened," and B.C. would "carry on," he said.

Visitors in Victoria for commissioning of destroyer-escort HMCS Saskatchewan Saturday are Vice-Admiral H. S. Rayner, chief of naval staff at Ottawa and Commodore S. M. Davis, director general ships, Ottawa. VMD president Harold Husband welcomed them yesterday at shipyard where they inspected HMCS Assiniboine, now undergoing major refit.

MLA R. O. Newton Dies in Invermere

Richard Orr Newton, the Social Credit MLA who quit his seat in 1952 to make way for Attorney-General Robert Bonner, died yesterday at Invermere. He was 57.

The legislature adjourned for the day shortly after 4 p.m.

following the passage of a motion of condolence for the widow and three children.

Mr. Newton was elected to the first Social Credit government in the Columbia riding in 1952. In October the same year he resigned and the attorney-general won the Columbia seat handily in a by-election.

In 1953, Mr. Bonner ran in Point Grey. Mr. Newton regained his Columbia seat and was re-elected in 1956 and 1960.

In a brief tribute the attorney-general told MLAs that Mr. Newton was not a frequent speaker in the House but always showed a deep understanding of the need for his constituents.

Opposition Leader Robert Strachan said he had never heard him utter an unkind word about anyone and that he was well-liked by every member of the House.

Mr. Newton's death left the House standing Social Credit 30, NDP 16 and Liberals two.

Admiral to Attend Ceremony For Latest Destroyer Escort

Vice-Admiral H. S. Rayner, chief of naval staff, is in Victoria to attend the commissioning of HMCS Saskatchewan, the newest addition to Canada's anti-submarine fleet, to take place at the government jetty near HMCS Naden Saturday afternoon.

Admiral Rayner, accompanied by Mrs. Rayner and an official party from naval headquarters, was welcomed Wednesday by Rear-Admiral W. M. Landymore, flag officer Pacific Coast, and Mrs. Landymore.

They arrived by service aircraft at Patricia Bay airport. Admiral Rayner paid an informal visit to the Admiral Rayner Corps of the Royal Canadian Sea Cadets Wednesday evening at their Victoria headquarters. He called officially on Admiral Landymore yesterday morning and was welcomed by a guard of honor and the HMCS Naden band.

A command luncheon was given at Naden wardroom yesterday in honor of Admiral Rayner. He and Mrs. Rayner were guests at a command reception last night.

TO MAKE INSPECTIONS

During his visit the admiral will inspect various naval installations, hold discussions with the flag officer and senior officers of the command.

This afternoon he will take the salute during ceremonial divisions at HMCS Naden. Visits to Royal Roads and civilian shipyards are also planned.

The official party will leave Patricia Bay airport for Ottawa at 9 a.m. Sunday.

Crew Working At 44 Below

Four Victoria men on Pacific Naval Laboratory's Expedition Ice Pack III are encountering temperatures as low as 44 below and winds up to 60 miles an hour at their camp in Deer Bay near Isachsen, Northwest Territory, according to PNL scientist Dr. Ashton Patterson.

The expedition, headed by scientist Allen Milne, 537 Prince Robert Lane, are in the Arctic to record underwater background noises for PNL's anti-submarine research bank.

"Their camp is located about two hours by tractor from Isachsen," Dr. Patterson told The Daily Colonist last night. "They are working over a water-depth of about 300 feet. They had hoped for 1,000 feet but were unable to go out further on the ice because of pressure ridges.

"They broke a sled runner and a tow-bar but their work is progressing favorably," he said. "They have finished the first phase and expect to be making ambient noise measurements for the next two weeks."

FINISH IN FEBRUARY

"They hope to finish up the last week of February," Dr. Patterson said. "We were glad to hear their tents, which were made here, had stood up well to the 60-mile winds."

With Mr. Milne on the expedition are Victoria scientists Ray Brown, 3730 Casey Drive; John O'Malla, 306 View Royal; John Ganton, 1209 Rockcrest; and driver-mechanic Yvon Peron of Ottawa.

City Council Briefs

Esquimalt Pulling Out Of Joint Defence Unit

Esquimalt yesterday confirmed by letter that it is withdrawing from the Victoria Esquimalt civil defence board of control to set up its own municipal organization.

"This leaves us on our own," said Ald. J. L. W. McLennan. He added the civil defence committee would meet soon to decide on a new budget and what amount of staff and equipment would be required in the future.

Mayor R. B. Wilson said following yesterday's city council meeting he had deferred the decision on a request from the Canadian Council of Christians and Jews to issue a proclamation on Brotherhood Week which starts Sunday.

The item was removed from the council agenda after a letter was received from the Victoria and District British-Israel Association denouncing the annual event as an attack on Christianity and Jesus Christ.

The mayor indicated he would probably make his decision today.

Ian Smith, 828 Falaise Crescent, foreman with the city parks department, yesterday received the fifth annual safety award from city council. He developed an improved method of mixing toxic substances into sprays.

Council also approved the appointment of Deputy Chief John F. Abbott, 57, to succeed Fire Chief James Bayliss who retires on his 60th birthday March 31.

The city will ask the Capital Region Planning Board to engage, "if at all possible, with all things equal," the services of a local B.C. firm of consulting engineers to carry out a proposed metro traffic study in Greater Victoria.

Bush Dispute

Strike End Sighted

TORONTO (CP) — A basis for ending a violent bushworkers' strike at Kapuskasing, Ont., was reached between union and company officials at 9:30 p.m., Labor Minister Leslie Rowntree said Thursday night.

Mr. Rowntree said the terms will be submitted to meetings of locals of the Lumber and Sawmill Workers Union (CLC) Saturday for ratification. (See story Page 13.)

They started at 10 p.m. Wednesday when six union and company officials arrived by plane from Timmins and continued almost without stopping until Thursday night.

BRIEF SLEEP

Wary negotiators emerged from the labor department offices at 6:30 a.m. Thursday for breakfast and a brief sleep before talks resumed at 11 a.m.

The strike, which started 31 days ago, involves about 1,100 employees at Spruce Falls Paper and Paper Company at Kapuskasing and another 400 at Kimberly-Clark Pulp and Paper Company at Longlac, 180 miles west of Kapuskasing.

VIOLENCE

They are both subsidiaries of Kimberly - Clark Canada Limited.

The strike flared into violence early Monday when three strikers were killed and nine wounded in a clash between armed independent loggers and about 400 strikers.

10 CHARGED

Nineteen loggers have been charged with non-capital murder and hundreds of strikers are being held in a war-time detention camp on charges of rioting.

Impaired
Charge
For Trustee

PORT ALBERNI — School trustee Robert Rutter of Port Alberni will appear in court here Friday morning on an impaired driving charge following an inquest into the death of Edward Moses, a North Vancouver Indian, who died here Dec. 15 in a street accident.

The inquest jury Wednesday night was told shoes of the deceased were found separate from the body, each with a folded five-dollar bill nearby, as though the money had fallen from the shoes.

Mr. Rutter, who just two weeks previously had been elected by acclamation to District 70 school board, was taken into custody at West Coast General Hospital, where he had taken his wife for treatment for cuts and abrasions.

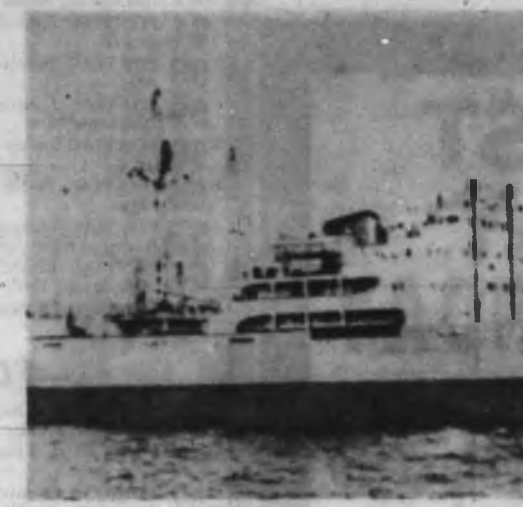

Flowers, Snorkel
'Sweetness'
Rules House

It was hearts and flowers in the legislature Valentine's Day.

Flowers were placed on the desks of three women members, all of the New Democratic Party, on behalf of Premier Bennett who was in Toronto making a speech. Provincial Secretary Wesley Black, first speaker in the budget debate, said his speech would be "all hearts and flowers and sweetness."

Then he announced two Valentine presents: For Liberal leader Ray Perrault he had a compass. "Those who wish to follow Ray now will know where he is going."

For Leo Nimick (NDP—Cranbrook) there was a snorkel. Mr. Black said Mr. Nimick has called for the development of historic Fort Steele in his constituency but the McNaughton plan for Columbia River development—advocated by the NDP—would put the fort under water.

Radio-Inspired Reds
Battling in Baghdad

BAGHDAD, Iraq (AP)—Urged by secret radio broadcasts to rise against Iraq's new revolutionary regime, Iraqi Communists battled troops in this capital until dawn Thursday.

Despite the new regime's claims it had smashed all resistance, the fighting was the heaviest since anti-Communists overthrew the government of Premier Abdel Karim Kassem Friday and executed him.

LONE RIFLE

Troops, police and students wearing the green arm bands of the revolution's national guard moved systematically through the city trying to clean up the Communist opposition.

Fighting began when a lone rifle cracked out from an upstairs window near the central telegraph office. An army tank crew fired back with machine-guns.

APORADIC

Battling continued sporadically, ending just before dawn Thursday with a heavy outburst near Baghdad's main intersection, Liberation Square.

The situation seemed to be settling into a long-term struggle between Communists and the new regime. Informed sources said about 2,500 persons have been jailed. Some merely worked for the old government but the majority are Communists.

The clandestine radio continued to call for resistance and also urged the Kurdish tribes in northern Iraq to join the Communists in open rebellion. The CARACAS (AP)—Communists who seized a Venezuelan freighter claimed Thursday night they were in complete command of the ship and defied capture in an air-sea chase in the Caribbean. New violence broke out here.

Hiking Fad

'If President Said
Climb Tall Tree...'

SEATTLE (AP) — A Seattle psychiatrist says he thinks the current fad of hiking 50 miles will come to an abrupt halt as soon as some overweight hiker drops dead of a heart attack.

So much for the end. But how about the start? "Simple," said the doctor, who asked that his name not be used.

The President of the United States suggested it and invoked the name of a popular folk hero, Teddy Roosevelt. The combination was unbeatable.

"If the President had said, 'Everyone climb a tall tree,' you wouldn't be able to see the trees for the people." Returning to the hikers, he said: "Now the Marines are hiking to prove that they're hairy-chested, as they're always telling everyone. And others, from soldiers and sailors to housewives and college students, are hiking to prove that they're just as rugged as the Marines."

U.S. Senator Intends To Discuss Canada

WASHINGTON (CP) — Senator Wayne Morse, outspoken Oregon Democrat, said Thursday he intends to do a lot of talking about Canadian affairs during the Canadian election campaign. He won't leave the issue to the diplomats.

Advice to leave relations to diplomats is an insult to the free people of both countries, Morse said in a Senate speech suggesting the North Atlantic alliance is in the midst of change and the more public discussion about it the better.

If Europe wants to handle its own defense against communism, then he could see no reason for the U.S. to object, added Morse, a member of the Senate foreign relations committee. "I am emphatically opposed to keeping American forces in Europe if they are not wanted, not needed and not matched. I am emphatically opposed to further financial aid to nations that seek to exclude the U.S. from the economic, military and political life of Western nations."

As for Canada, Morse said he hopes there will be a great deal of Canadian discussion about Canadian-U.S. relations during the election campaign.

To pass judgment on the future of their country, "Canadians have to know what Americans think just as we have to know what they think. I do not fear any Canadian election result that follows a full discussion of our relations on both sides of the border. I do fear a decision that may flow from ignorance of U.S. views."

Youth Held

Saanich Amends
Death Charge

The 16-year-old youth charged following the discovery of the bullet-riddled bodies of a Saanich couple Wednesday afternoon will appear in Saanich juvenile court at 2 p.m. today.

Victoria lawyer Robert Price will represent the boy when he makes his second appearance before Magistrate J. A. Byers.

On his first appearance he was charged with committing a delinquency, "to wit, murder."

AMENDED

The charge was amended Thursday to delete the words "to wit, murder."

The boy has not pleaded to the charge. No application for bail has been made and the youth is lodged in the juvenile section of Saanich jail, separate from adult cells.

AWAY FOR TESTS

A number of articles connected with the double murder of George A. Bickford and his wife, Helen, 3625 Melcroft, were taken to the Vancouver city analyst's office Thursday by Saanich Detective Robin Stewart for blood, ballistics and other tests.

It is understood that the boy has not undergone psychiatric testing.

UP TO MAGISTRATE

Trial of a juvenile in juvenile court on a charge arising out of murder is not without precedent. Disposition of the case—whether the boy is tried in the juvenile court or remanded to appear in an adult court—is at the discretion of the presiding magistrate.

Next regular sitting of Saanich magistrate's court will be held Saturday.

MLA Dies

British Columbia legislature adjourned early Thursday after receiving word that Columbia MLA Richard Orr Newton had died in Invermere at the age of 57. (See story on Page 30.)

Plane Carrying Two
Missing in Interior

VANCOUVER (CP)—A light plane with two men aboard Thursday was reported missing since Wednesday on a charter flight for the provincial government about 280 miles north of Vancouver.

The RCAF rescue co-ordination centre here said the plane, belonging to Omnica Air Services Ltd. of Burns Lake, B.C., left for Tchesinkut Lake about 11 miles away at noon and was due to return in the evening Wednesday.

The two men aboard, whose names were withheld pending notification of next of kin, were said to be dressed warmly, but carrying only limited survival gear and no radio.

Two aircraft of the Omnica Services have launched a search.

The RCAF said purpose of the flight was to count caribou and moose in the area.

KOLLOCH, Scotland (AP) — Coal, it was disclosed Thursday, are being carried to Newcastle.

Newcastle is the English industrial town you are not supposed to carry coal to. It is surrounded by coal mines. But an official of the National Coal Board explained Thursday:

"Because of the recent spell of cold, snow and ice the supply to Newcastle from the neighboring mines was cut off. So coal has had to be sent to that district by ship from pits in Scotland."

Construction Man Dies in Fall

CHESAVENTO—Francis Aere, 19-year-old cement finisher of 1384 McLean Drive, Vancouver, died in a 20-foot fall Wednesday night on the construction site at the B.C. Forest Products pulp mill, police said. The cement worker was employed by a Vancouver firm, Smith Brothers & Wilson. Date for an inquest has not yet been set.

Police said Aere was going to relieve another cement finisher to complete a job on the floor area 20 feet above the ground. The floor in the new building was covered except for two holes and, trying to

About 10 clubs have already said they will join the association.

NANAIMO—The Nanaimo branch of the Canadian Mental Health Association has accepted the resignation of Mrs. Betty Morton, professional counsellor with the public psychiatric services. Her territory extended over the central Vancouver Island

DUNCAN—The local Junior Chamber of Commerce at a recent meeting—with 15 members attending—was strongly outnumbered by the Victoria club which arrived with 55 members in a chartered bus. A film on logging in New Zealand was followed by another on brotherhood.

CAMPBELL RIVER—A fund-raising organization to help students in financial need was formed here recently.

Purpose of the Campbell River and District Student Assistance Association will be to make interest-free loans available to students in the Campbell River school district on a long-term repayment basis.

The idea came from Campbell River Rotary Club, which raised an initial $1,000 for the association.

ALBERNI—A youth pageant and an all-denominational church service are planned by Alberni's 50th anniversary committee, with Victoria Day suggested as a date for the program.

Elementary school principal Arthur Holmes and representatives of the district's ministerial association were asked to take charge of details of the program, to be held in Alberni Athletic Hall.

Acting on a suggestion a pioneers' reunion be held in connection with the event, Mrs. J. M. Eaves asked all persons living in the valley before 1913 write to her or register at Jowsey's Home Variety and Electric.

BPO Elks representatives outlined plans made for the July 1 weekend: Logging sports, with $1,000 in prizes, a barbecue, a street dance and a dance in Alberni Athletic Hall were on the weekend program, with local Indians taking charge of a program of water sports on that Sunday.

DUNCAN—The 1963 president of the Cowichan District Unit, Canadian Cancer Society is Mrs. Marjorie Langlois. Other officers are: Mrs. Isabel Staples, vice-president; Gerald Allister, secretary-treasurer; Barney Cocks, campaign chairman; Maj. Gen. C. A. P. Munson, campaign coordinator, and Bert Dodd, publicity chairman. The local group plans to establish a table display to demonstrate the services available to the public, and a women's forum next month.

DUNCAN—Committee reports from the recent Cowichan Valley Garden Club meeting indicated an ambitious program for 1963. The date for the spring show, to be held at the Royal Canadian Legion Hall here, was set for April 20. The Lookout Circle of the IODE is co-operating and will manage the refreshments. Merchants and private persons are donating script and prizes for the tombola.

Some highlights will be a display of rarest and daffodils by Mrs. R. H. M. Shaw and Mrs. C. A. Green and a rhododendron display by Peter Stone and D. E. Dougan. Members of the hospital landscape committee will confer with the landscape artist, Mr. Justice, and the planning board of the King's Daughters' Hospital.

Two Men Injured In Fall

NANAIMO—Two men were injured at Harman Wednesday. One man suffered a broken leg in a fall and the other man, Albert McMoran of Crofton, was undoing a coupling when the pressure blew it off. He received facial injuries and it is believed that steel splinters were imbedded in the eye. Hospital authorities say both men are in satisfactory condition.

Peace Research Chief Describes Institute Task

NANAIMO—Dr. Norman Alcock, president of the Canada Peace Research Institute, discussed the work of the institute at a meeting of more than 200 in the Quennell School gymnasium.

He stated, "In all the studies we are conducting we are still barely scratching the surface, and our great need is for money to finance this type of research."

The study is conducted in four definite fields: economics, foreign aid, requirements for changing the attitudes of the public towards positive action for peace instead of the present negative attitude, and the dynamics of attitude change. One of the difficulties the institute has to contend with is communication between itself and the public.

The current work for peace "seems to be so much on the intellectual level that the ordinary man cannot grasp the substance or the theory, and it is very necessary to bring the concept of peace down to the lower levels." Dr. Alcock agreed that newspaper reporting is generally accurate but that the subject is not easily translatable to brief reports.

Vancouver Island contributes more per capita than any other place in Canada to peace research funds.

Which whisky uses the water from a red granite burn?

Water, soft water, is one of the most important influences on the flavour of a whisky. And the water from a red granite stream is the softest and purest. Next time you drink Ballantine's, you'll sense how the stream runs in the taste.

It is differences like this that prove—the more you know about Scotch, the more you like Ballantine's.

NDP candidate John Windsor and wife.

Author to Carry Banner for NDP

Blind Brentwood author John Windsor was chosen last night as the New Democratic Party's candidate for the Esquimalt-Saanich riding in the federal election to be held April 8.

The next eight weeks I am going to dedicate myself to try and get across the New Democratic Party's message to the people of this community," he told the nominating meeting of some 50 persons in the Douglas Hall.

"If you get behind me I think we have a good chance of taking Esquimalt-Saanich for the NDP."

Mr. Windsor is author of Blind Date, published recently in Sidney. He lost his sight during the Second World War—while taking part in the battle of Melba River in the Italian campaign.

18 CENTS NOT ENOUGH
"I don't think one man and 18 cents is quite enough to win this election," he told the meeting, referring to the riding association's bank balance.

Mr. Windsor summarized the major political parties as:

Social Credit: Eighteenth century Tories, 200 years behind the times.

RODE CREST
Liberal: In the years after the war the Liberals rode the crest, but as the going got tough, as soon as this country needed leadership, the Liberals failed us utterly.

Progressive Conservatives: I am not one of those who would like to see the Conservative Party disappear. I would like to see it preserved—possibly in a museum, as an historical exhibit.

Grit Official Moving Here

By JACK FRY

B.C. Liberal Association president William Gilmour has repented a home in Saanich and may buy a fruit farm here, it was learned yesterday.

The former Penikese lawyer and apple grower who moved to Vancouver when he gained the Liberal presidency Oct. 14, 1961, moved to Saanich in December, 1962.

He may seek the Liberal nomination in the Esquimalt-Saanich federal riding.

Yesterday, he met Saanich Coun. Robert Ostler, who said he would not back down in his bid for the nomination even in the face of possible strong opposition from the Liberal president.

They met over coffee at Coun. Ostler's home. Mr. Gilmour apparently asked for the meeting.

They discussed "Liberal policies in general" but never quite reached the awkward point in conversation about whether the Liberal president will enter the race, Coun. Ostler said later.

Purpose of Mr. Gilmour's visit may have been to find out whether the Saanich councillor was willing to drop out of the nomination race.

"But I told him I was committed and intend to remain in the race even if it means a fight in the nominating convention," Coun. Ostler said.

The nominating convention will be held in Tillicum School at 8 p.m. Tuesday, and Mr. Gilmour will have until then to decide.

He was en route to a speaking engagement on the mainland yesterday and not available for comment.

Dr. C. H. Hemmings, president of the Liberal Association

WILLIAM GILMOUR... running in Saanich?

in the Esquimalt-Saanich federal riding, said he understood that Mr. Gilmour was resting a home in Saanich until he finds a fruit farm to buy in this area.

His confirmed reports that Mr. Gilmour had been asked to stand and said that Mr. Gilmour was unable to give a definite answer because of other commitments.

Mr. Gilmour recently returned here from Ottawa where he attended meetings of the executive of the National Liberal Federation.

Will Not Budge in 'War'

Gasoline Men Standing Ground

Some 200 area gasoline dealers last night indicated they will dig in their heels and stand pat with their prices—despite the price war that has raged through Greater Victoria in the past few days.

Meanwhile thirty-two

Greater Victoria service station operators said they had been approached in the last two days by several oil companies to become commission agents with a guaranteed markup of seven cents a gallon.

They and about 150 other area gasoline dealers strongly indicated they would not budge to "pressure and flagrant abuse of the democratic system" but rather remain independent and choose their own markup which now stands at an average 8.6 cents. There was an atmosphere of fighting spirit at last night's Holyrood House meeting of 180 members of the Victoria zone, Automotive Retailers' Association of B.C. as speaker after speaker urged the members to "stand up for what you know is right."

LOCAL FLAREUP

Meanwhile it appeared that the gasoline "price war" has been contained to a local flareup with four independent dealers—two Pay 'n' Save and two Mohawk stations—competing in price against four to seven Imperial Oil Co. dealers. Exact number could not be learned.

Thursday night the prices for a gallon of regular gasoline stood at par between these two groups—40.9 cents—while all other service stations remained within fractions of the previous price—44.9 cents.

TO PRESENT BRIEF

The association said it would present a brief to the provincial government Monday asking:

● "A base refinery price formula equal to all retailer and non-retailer accounts with no kickbacks, favors, etc.

● "Restoration of free enterprise at retail through out-lawing of consignment price-fixing agreement."

"It's going to be a real fight," said George Hankinson, president of Pacific Chrysler Products Ltd. and a provincial director of the association.

ALL KINDS OF TRICKS

The oil companies will pull all kinds of dusty tricks and may put the price down to 36 cents," he added.

"We should make clear to the public," said Stanley Hitchman, second vice-president of the association, "that we don't want the prices to stay up."

"All we ask for," said local association president Earl Reynolds, "is a fair profit. We should tell customers: 'Our supplier hasn't lowered the price, so how can I?'"

CONSIGNMENT PLAN

Mr. Hankinson said at a press conference earlier Thursday the drop in price was a move by Imperial Oil to "get everyone forced into consignment selling" as in Vancouver.

If the Imperial move worked, he said, dealers not on consignment would have to drop their prices to equal consignment prices, and would all finally be forced on consignment.

Thus, with everyone on consignment, and with a set commission price over the whole sale price, all prices would eventually be identical.

HITS APPROACH

"It's a stinking approach by the oil companies to get around the price-fixing provisions of the Combines Act," Mr. Hankinson said.

At last night's meeting Mr. Hankinson outlined the markup pattern across Canada: In Toronto, 5.5 cents a gallon, in Winnipeg six cents, in Calgary 6.5 cents and in Vancouver seven cents.

STANDARDIZATION

National association president Clifford Horwood added that eventually a standardization of prices would creep toward B.C. until all markups were identical.

"But one thing the oil companies are going to realize is they have walked into the wrong town," Mr. Hankinson earlier said.

WAIT AND SEE

In Vancouver, Imperial Oil Co. regional marketing manager D. H. MacAllan said in a telephone interview: "Our attitude is to wait and see."

However, Mr. MacAllan conceded "it's an Imperial price," speaking on the four to seven Greater Victoria operators who slashed prices to 40.9 cents.

It appears the crucial moment in this issue will arrive when and if more service station operators become consignment dealers.

U.S. Intervention Main Charge By McPhillips

Opposition to United States intervention in Canadian affairs will be a strong plank in his election platform, A. DeB. McPhillips said yesterday upon his return from Ottawa.

Mr. McPhillips, Progressive Conservative member of parliament for Victoria when the House dissolved, said he will let his name stand for the constituency's Tory nomination convention in Holyrood House on Feb. 26.

"I am absolutely opposed to reverting to the Canadian days under Mackenzie King when he made Canada a poor relative to the United States in matters of diplomacy and trade—when his watchwords were, 'We must not offend Washington," said Mr. McPhillips.

"I am opposed to a return to those days which Mr. Pearson wishes to bring about, and I am opposed to paternalism from Washington."

"Also, I am satisfied that in the early election pronouncements the prime minister will contradict statements made by the U.S. state department in its release . . . that Canada has not come up with a satisfactory plan on use of nuclear weapons," Mr. McPhillips said.

WONT STAND FOR IT
"I believe the prime minister will say that neither has the U.S. come up with a satisfactory plan for use by Canada of nuclear warheads, and that the plans of the U.S. that Canada have nuclear warheads on its soil but with the president of the United States having his finger on the trigger is something that Canada will not stand for."

Recent resignations from the federal cabinet and other developments in Ottawa will be described by Esquimalt-Saanich MP George Chatterton at a meeting Monday night.

Mr. Chatterton will speak at a meeting of the Esquimalt-Saanich Young Progressive-Conservative Association, to be held in Hartman Hall, in the mall at the Town and Country Shopping Centre, at 8 p.m.

Tower Tenders Received

B.C. Hydro and Power Authority has received tenders from two Vancouver firms for construction of 27 high-voltage steel transmission towers for use on upper Vancouver Island.

B.C. Hydro plans to relocate some power lines around Horne Lake, to permit completion of a $1,245,000 federal fisheries spawning control project in the Big Qualicum River near Qualicum Bay.

The Vancouver firms, Western Bridge and Dominion Bridge, submitted their bids on a weight-cost basis, and it was not known immediately which was the lower bid.

It was hearts and flowers in the legislature Valentine's Day.

Flowers were placed on the desks of three women members, all of the New Democratic Party, on behalf of Premier Bennett who was in Toronto making a speech.

Provincial Secretary Wesley Black, first speaker in the budget debate, said his speech would be "all hearts and flowers and sweetness."

Then he announced two Valentine presents: For Liberal leader Ray Perrault he had a compass. "Those who wish to follow Ray now will know where he is going."

For Leo Nimsick (NDP—Cranbrook) there was a snorkel. Mr. Black said Mr. Nimsick has called for the development of historic Fort Steele in his constituency but the McNaughton plan for Columbia River development—advocated by the NDP—would put the fort under water. (See also Page 2.)

Strike End Sighted

TORONTO (CP) — A basis for ending a violent bushworkers' strike at Kapuskasing, Ont., was reached between union and company officials at 9:30 p.m., Labor Minister Leslie Rowntree said Thursday night.

Mr. Rowntree said the terms will be submitted to meetings of locals of the Lumber and Sawmill Workers Union (LSCU) Saturday for ratification. (See story Page 13.)

They started at 10 p.m. Wednesday when six union and company officials arrived by plane from Timmins and continued almost without stopping until Thursday night.

BRIEF SLEEP

Wary negotiators emerged from the labor department offices at 6:30 a.m. Thursday for breakfast and a brief sleep before talks resumed at 11 a.m.

The strike, which started 31 days ago, involves about 1,100 employees at Spruce Falls Power and Paper Company at Kapuskasing and another 400 at Kimberly-Clark Pulp and Paper Company at Longlac, 180 miles west of Kapuskasing.

VIOLENCE

They are both subsidiaries of Kimberly-Clark Canada Limited.

The strike flared into violence early Monday when three strikers were killed and nine wounded in a clash between armed independent loggers and about 400 strikers.

20 CHARGED

Nineteen loggers have been charged with non-capital murder and hundreds of strikers are being held in a war-time detention camp on charges of rioting.

PIRATES DEFY AIR-SEA HUNT

CARACAS (AP)—Communists who seized a Venezuelan freighter claimed Thursday night they were in complete command of the ship and defied capture in an air-sea chase in the Caribbean. New violence broke out here.

President Romulo Betancourt called out the armed forces as he prepared for his trip to Washington for talks with President Kennedy.

U.S. warships and aircraft joined in the search for the 3,127-ton Anzoategui in response to an appeal for help from the Betancourt government, which called the men pirates.

Authorities said the ship appeared headed for the eastern Cuban port of Santiago, about 40 miles from the big U.S. naval base at Cuba's Guantanamo Bay.

MESSAGE

The U.S. Coast Guard at San Juan reported interpreting a radio message from the captive ship reading:

"Crew is well. Officers and men under arrest. All are well."

In Washington, informants said U.S. searchers on locating the Anzoategui would report the ship's position immediately to Caracas. They suggested a Venezuelan government request to intercept it would be honored.

MUST HELP

Venezuelan Interior Minister Carlos Andres Perez declared that all nations under international law are obligated to help in capturing the Communists who seized the freighter.

Perez rejected a reported pirate broadcast offer to release the captain of the Anzoategui and his crew of 35 in exchange for pardons for jailed Venezuelan terrorists.

CRYPTIC

A cryptic exchange was reported between the Anzoategui and an unidentified radio operator in Venezuela. The Venezuelan operator asked the ship's position and got this reply:

"Cannot give position. Am being threatened."

The implication was that the ship's radio operator was working with a gun at his back.

TERRORISM

Seizure of the ship on the high seas Thursday sparked off terrorism again in Caracas against the anti-Communist Betancourt regime.

Sniping circles in Caracas said the motor ship Seey sighted the freighter this morning about where it was reported sighted by a U.S. naval plane.

The Communists told of seizing the Anzoategui Wednesday to dramatize their war against President Romulo Betancourt.

SPOTTED

The Venezuelan Navy reported that U.S. Navy planes spotted the 3,127-ton Anzoategui steaming in the Caribbean about halfway between Venezuela and the Dominican Republic.

The Venezuelan government blamed the ship's seizure on the Armed Forces for National Liberation, an organization with links to Cuba. AFNL leaflets strewn about Caracas newspaper offices said the seizure of the ship was aimed at turning world opinion against Betancourt.

CHIEF AIM

But the chief terrorist aim was to force Betancourt to cancel his visit with President Kennedy in Washington next week. He is due to leave Monday.

AFNL has been pressing a terrorist campaign in Caracas for more than a week and intensified it Thursday to coincide with the news of the daring seizure of the freighter as she steamed toward the U.S. ports of New Orleans and Houston.

GUN BATTLES

Police in Caracas fought scattered gun battles with AFNL bands throughout the city. Terrorists hurled bottled gasoline bombs at police cars and the walls of a pro-Betancourt radio station. They set fire to several cars and buses and burned down a tire factory.

Two messengers for a movie film agency were shot to death in a holdup near the Royal Bank of Canada. The robbers made off with 11,000 dollars ($3,850). Foreign Minister Marcos Falcon Briceo said the government considered the ship seizure an act of piracy.

Youth Held

Saanich Amends Death Charge

The 16-year-old youth charged following the discovery of the bullet-riddled bodies of a Saanich couple Wednesday afternoon will appear in Saanich juvenile court at 2 p.m. today.

Victoria lawyer Robert Price will represent the boy when he makes his second appearance before Magistrate J. A. Byers.

On his first appearance he was charged with committing a delinquency, "to wit, murder."

AMENDED

The charge was amended Thursday to delete the words "to wit, murder."

The boy has not pleaded to the charge. No application for bail has been made and the youth is lodged in the juvenile section of Saanich jail, separate from adult cells.

AWAY FOR TESTS

A number of articles connected with the double murder of George A. Bickford and his wife, Helen, 3625 Melcroft, were taken to the Vancouver city analyst's office Thursday by Saanich Detective Robin Stewart for blood, ballistics and other tests.

It is understood that the boy has not undergone psychiatric testing.

UP TO MAGISTRATE

Trial of a juvenile in juvenile court on a charge arising out of murder is not without precedent.

Disposition of the case—whether the boy is tried in the juvenile court or remanded to appear in an adult court—is at the discretion of the presiding judge.

Next sitting of Saanich magistrate's court will be held Saturday.

BAGHDAD, Iraq (AP)—Urged by secret radio broadcasts to rise against Iraq's new revolutionary regime, Iraqi Communists battled troops in this capital until dawn Thursday.

Despite the new regime's claims it had smashed all resistance, the fighting was the heaviest since anti-Communists overthrew the government of Premier Abdel Karim Kassem Friday and executed him.

LOVE RIFLE

Troops, police and students wearing the green arm bands of the revolution's national guard moved systematically through the city trying to clean up the Communist opposition.

Fighting began when a lone rifle cracked out from an upstairs window near the central telegraph office. An army tank crew fired back with machine-guns.

SPORADIC

Battling continued sporadically, ending just before dawn Thursday with a heavy outburst near Baghdad's main intersection, Liberation Square.

The situation seemed to be settling into a long-term struggle between Communists and the new regime. Informed sources said about 2,500 persons have been jailed. Some merely worked for the old government but the majority are Communists.

The clandestine radios continued to call for resistance and also urged the Kurdish tribes in northern Iraq to join the Communists in open rebellion. The

Hiking Fad

'If President Said Climb Tall Tree...'

SEATTLE (AP) — A Seattle psychiatrist says he thinks the current fad of hiking 30 miles will come to an abrupt halt as soon as some overweight hiker drops dead of a heart attack.

So much for the end. But how about the start? "Simple," said the doctor, who asked that his name not be used.

"The President of the United States suggested it and invoked the name of a popular folk hero, Teddy Roosevelt. The combination was unbeatable."

"If the President had said, 'Everyone climb a tall tree,' you wouldn't be able to see the trees for the people."

Returning to the hikers, he said: "Now the Marines are hiking to prove that they're hairy-chested, as they're always telling everyone. And others, from soldiers and sailors to housewives and college students, are hiking to prove that they're just as rugged as the Marines."

U.S. Senator Intends To Discuss Canada

WASHINGTON (CP) — Senator Wayne Morse, outspoken Oregon Democrat, said Thursday he intends to do a lot of talking about Canadian affairs during the Canadian election campaign. He won't leave the issue to the diplomats.

Advice to leave relations to diplomats is an insult to the free people of both countries, Morse said in a Senate speech suggesting the North Atlantic alliance is in the midst of change and the more public discussion about it the better.

If Europe wants to handle its own defense against communism, then he could see no reason for the U.S. to object, added Morse, a member of the Senate foreign relations committee. "I am emphatically opposed of U.S. views."

Ancient Adage Flouted

KOLLOCE, Scotland (AP)—Coal, it was disclosed Thursday, are being carried to Newcastle.

Newcastle is the English industrial town you are not supposed to carry coal to. It is surrounded by coal mines. But an official of the National Coal Board explained Thursday:

"Because of the recent spell of cold, snow and ice the supply to Newcastle from the neighboring mines was cut off. So coal has had to be sent to that district by ship from pits in Scotland."
